

Into ALL the World

John Woodhouse | Principal

Those who are praying that the Lord of the harvest will send out labourers into his harvest must be profoundly encouraged by the Lord's answers to those prayers.

At this year's College Graduation in the Sydney Town Hall a record number of men and women are being sent "into all the world" with the powerful and life-giving gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. In 2004 the College has enrolled a record number of students (over 300 for the first time) in its various full time courses.

This year a record number of men and women are going, taking the gospel of Jesus Christ 'into all the world'...

Over the coming years we are praying and working towards a College that will be able to train twice or even three times as many students as at present. That is what we believe is needed to train the labourers who will plant and pastor the churches who will reach just 10% of the population of this Diocese, as well as reach out into all the world.

This means that our College needs an army of prayerful and generous partners to help us in this great task.

The resources that the College has inherited from wise and visionary leadership in the past are amazing. Our Faculty is an outstanding team of gifted and godly teachers. The College library is world class (the books, not the building!). The Campus stands on a large area of land in central Sydney.

These resources urgently need to be expanded and developed to meet the needs of the coming decades. The present Faculty of 20 will need to grow with the growing student numbers. The library is in urgent need of a new building with adequate space. More teaching and residential space is needed.

Plans for all these things are being carefully researched and prepared. Will you please stand with us and, as the Lord enables you, help to make it happen?

Hungry for the Word

Michael Raiter | Head of the Department of Mission at MTC

As I left the building, Bible in hand, to deliver my first address in Kabul, my ever-vigilant host reminded me that this was not a land where you could walk down the street openly carrying the Christian Scriptures. So, I discreetly hid the Bible under my jacket. Welcome to Afghanistan!

It was a privilege to spend a few days in this ravaged capital city to minister the word of God to a number of spiritually hungry workers who are serving there with various relief agencies. For three days people crammed into a room, most seated cross-legged on the floor as the overflow filled 2 adjoining rooms. Over the past couple of years agencies have brought in a procession of counsellors to help people deal with the stress and trauma of working in an environment where you face the constant pressure of security concerns. However, while these important psychological needs have been met, few have come to minister the soul-refreshing word of God. So I gladly accepted the invitation to spend much of January conducting retreats in Afghanistan and Pakistan, both places where Christian workers live under considerable adversity.

Christ-like Courage...

Produces inspiring leaders

John Gray | Rector of Castle Hill

Christ calls leaders of the 21st century Church to follow him. So they must lead as he did — with courage. He challenged authorities from Herod Antipas (Luke 14:31-32; 13:31-32) to Temple leaders. He preached the Kingdom of God, proclaiming that God, not the Emperor, was Ruler. He challenged the aspirations of people who, like many Sydneysiders, lived in and for the present (Luke 12:29-30). He knew such defiant courage would demand his life. Yet he resolutely set out for Jerusalem (Luke 9:51).

Christ-like courage produces inspiring leaders who:

- save not just themselves but also their hearers (1 Timothy 4:15-16). Their life says, "You can live in the Kingdom of God now. Life does not have to be characterized by the futile self-absorption of Sydney." Such a life leaves a compelling impression on others. When Isabella Bonar saw and heard Robert Murray McCheyne preach, she said "[he is a] living epistle of Christ — a picture so lovely, I felt I would have given all the world to be as he was".
- feed the sheep, rather than feed on the sheep. Leaders are servants of Christ and seek to please him, so they do not hunger for "positive feedback" from God's people about ministry or their sermons. They're not slaves to popular opinion. They feed sheep.

- develop entrepreneurial and innovative minds. They answer CT Studd's arresting question: "The gamblers for gold are plenty [as, indeed, they are in NSW], but where are the gamblers for God?" They are courageous risk-takers because they know the return will be thirty, sixty, possibly one hundred, times what was sown in them (Matthew 13:23). They will meet the challenge of calling the Western Church to radical, Christ-honouring lives that proclaim, "The Kingdom of God is here and you can live in it now".

This courage does not develop overnight. It comes with the smell of holy sweat produced in the "gym" as a leader is transformed into the likeness of Christ (1 Timothy 4:7-16).

The challenge is to carve out time to train. The 24 God-given hours of each day hardly seem enough in 2004. But 21st century leaders who follow Christ will put in the time and effort. It is leaders like this who will inspire God's people to transform the world.

Moore Northerly Matters

Graeme Goldsworthy | A Visiting Lecturer

The CMS Summer School for Queensland and Northern NSW (Jan 2-8) was held at Mt Tamborine in the Gold Coast hinterland. Several hundred people attended, mainly from the Dioceses of Brisbane and Armidale. The main speaker was Moore lecturer, Bill Salier. I myself gave three studies on prayer and conducted an elective on Liberal Christianity. For Moore graduates in the North, a feature of Summer School is being able to renew acquaintances with other people whose ministries have taken them far away from Sydney. More importantly, it is a time of great encouragement for those graduates who face loneliness in distant places, or opposition to the gospel.

During my first stint on the faculty at Moore (1963-69) we had a number of students from Brisbane including some women studying at Deaconess House (now Mary Andrews College), and this was largely due to the influence of the then very active CMS League of Youth in Brisbane. I had no thought of Queensland myself until I was invited to teach at the Bible College in 1975. This began a twenty-year stay in the Diocese of Brisbane, the last fourteen years of which I was in full-time Anglican ministry.

My more recent time on the Moore faculty (1995-2000) reminded me, if I really needed reminding, that Sydney Anglicans often have little notion of the comparative difficulty of being part of a small evangelical minority in a diocese that is predominantly liberal catholic as Brisbane now is. In recent times, evangelicals have been less than welcome, and this has made it hard for those Moore graduates and other evangelicals at present ministering in Brisbane Diocese. In the current climate of aggressive liberalism in the Anglican Church, Moore Graduates and other evangelicals in the North need our encouragement and prayers.

Yet despite (or, perhaps because of!) such adversity the word of God continues to bear fruit. What a thrill to hear Sarfraz tell me how picking up a tract on jihad caused him to investigate his Muslim faith. As he read the Qur'an he discovered it endorsed the kind of warfare this tract had been advocating. He then turned to the New Testament and both discovered the truth and met the Saviour. What a privilege to meet Eddie, now an amputee, who told me I was standing next to the spot in the church where his daughter had been blown up by a suicide bomber 18 months before. His deep love for Jesus and firm faith in God's goodness was inspiring.

I thank God for the privilege of ministering to such people; but even more, of having been ministered to myself by them.

College Missions in 2004

This year fourteen teams will travel to sixteen churches and stay a week, Sunday to Sunday, 2nd - 9th May. During this time they will preach, teach and lead all sorts of events -- in churches, schools and homes. There are many learning experiences for the students, who come back with stories of how they saw the Lord at work in many situations and with many different people.

Each year College has far more requests for missions than we are able to provide. Clergy in the Sydney diocese find them beneficial as do people ministering in other areas both around Australia and overseas.

During 2004 Missions are being held in Beverley Hills, Kingsgrove, Bundanoon, Carlton, Caringbah, Thornleigh, Melbourne, Macquarie, Rooty Hill, Miranda, Pyrmont, Shellharbour, Singapore, Townsville and West Wollongong.

VERY SPECIAL THANKS...

Our special thanks to all of the people who have supported the College over the years. Last year we were quite concerned that we weren't going to make budget, especially the Building Fund. The maintenance department was unable to complete their normal duties and when one of the staff left he was not replaced so that dollars could be saved. But praise the Lord you have answered the need, the monies have come in, we have meet all fundraising budgets and the various areas of need are now being attended to! We praise the Lord too for several special gifts that came in and gave us funds for desired areas of work and items that we hoped for. Please praise the Lord with us. Thank you for your partnership in this work.

So, we ask you — Would you consider giving to college monthly or on a regular basis? If more people gave this way it would ease the "trough" situations such as the one we had last year and enable better planning for the projects to be carried out. Would you pray about this and see if the Lord is asking you to consider giving regularly? If he is would you give Sue or Vicki a ring — 95779797 or e-mail sue.bennett@moore.edu.au or go online to www.moore.edu.au and go to "Fundraising".

Moore Books visits CMS Summer School...

Mamie Long

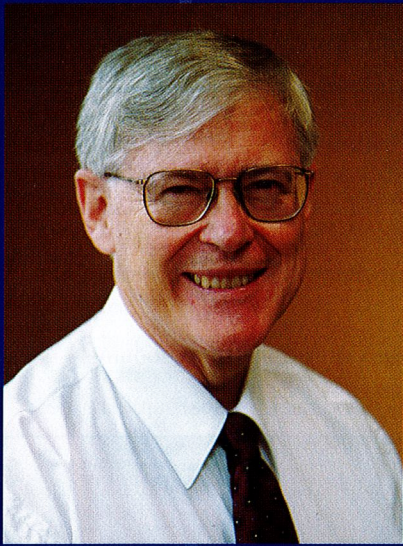

It is 9 am on 2 January 2004, and instead of opening the doors in Newtown, Moore Books is on the road to Katoomba. Matt Snelson and I start dealing with the dust and getting ready to receive 200 boxes of books. Craig Donnelly arrives and the hard work begins. Is there enough space? It looks doubtful, but by the end of the day Moore Books has taken shape with shelves for mission, ministry, children, youth, commentaries, music and, of course, Don Carson titles.

The conference began on Saturday afternoon and by 2 pm there were customers banging on the door, wanting to look around. So much for a slow start — the place filled with people as soon as the doors opened and pretty well stayed that way for the rest of the week. Claire Moroney, Emily Rawlings and even the Bursar, Doug Marr, were busy serving every morning. Our willing student helpers — Andy Chung, Rebecca Copland, Rod Farraway, Michelle Philp and Matt Snelson — contributed to making CMS Summer School 2004 a great experience. As we worked we enjoyed the music of the band, listened to Don Carson's wonderful exposition of 1 and 2 Peter, heard about the work of missionaries and the opportunities facing them.

With a short time to prepare for the conference, Adam Tierney, our retail manager, did an excellent job of selecting the stock and working out the quantities we needed. Some people assume that Moore Books sells only academic texts, so Summer School was a wonderful opportunity to bring great resources to several thousand Christians.

MOORE BOOKS - A special Christian bookshop that caters for all your needs. Contact us for our regular newsletter giving details of the pertinent Christian books that are available. Astonishing Act of Faith

"The present and immediate needs of the College are the needs caused by growth and life. The Council has refused to set a limit on its growth, believing that if God raises up men and women we must take them and train them now. This is an astonishing act of faith, for the facilities are already stretched and those who work at the College are heroic. Please take an interest in the College; be affectionately critical of its endeavours; please support its work in prayer;

please support its work with your gifts; pray for the supply of very significant sums of money so that the work will not be hindered. Make it your College and a natural part of your Christian duty to be concerned for its fortunes and interested in its progress." ~ Peter Jensen

Students Speak...

Where are some of the labourers going?

(Space does not allow details for all students; these are a few...)

TABATHA AYLEN – BD/Dip Min

Adelaide / China

Tabatha comments that she has benefited so much from the wisdom and insight with which the Bachelor of Divinity course has been constructed. The combination of subjects and the weighting between disciplines, coupled with the diligence and integrity of lecturers, have shaped time in class and individual study so as to leave one hungry to know God more. She says that studying in community was the richest of blessings: it included laughter, stress and struggle, learning to carry one another's burdens.

She hopes in a few years to hop on a plane to China to work with Evergreen Ministries setting up a Youth Training Centre. Until then she will be in ministry in Adelaide.

KINGSLEY BOX – BD/Dip Min

Slovenia, CMS

Thinking in areas that he never thought were important for Christian ministry, such as church history & philosophy, has been part of the great experience at Moore for Kingsley. He feels that training and community living at Moore has equipped him to serve Christ's people by confirming that doctrine and practice go together. The way one serves God's people comes from the knowledge of God and requires the powerful movement of his Spirit. Kingsley hopes that God's Spirit will continue to transform him to serve his people in love. Roni, his wife, and he believe God is leading them to become overseas missionaries in the near future. They have been accepted as missionaries in training with the Church Missionary Society and are praying that God will open the way for them to serve university students in Slovenia, central Europe.

CHRIS BRAGA – BD/Dip Min

Concord NSW

"The factories have been pulled down, the soil decontaminated (so we are told!), and another 20,000 people have started moving into the area around Concord. Under God's hand we want to proclaim the gospel and see many of these people come to faith in Jesus Christ as their Lord and Saviour. Thank God for the labour and endurance of the congregations at Holy Trinity and St Mary's, and pray that God would enable us to equip them for the good works he has in store for them to do. With a daunting task before us, pray that God would achieve his purposes and give us a good dose of wisdom and patience along the way."

CHRIS BRENNAN – BD/Dip Min

Gunnedah NSW

Chris grew up in Armidale NSW and studied in Queensland, ending up working at St Mark's UNE (Unichurch) for three years. He then entered Moore College. Chris is married to Sam and has a baby son, Patrick.

Gunnedah, Northern NSW, is where God is taking them, Chris as an Assistant Minister in the Anglican Church. Their prayer is that God will be kind enough to allow them the privilege of continuing to serve his people for a long time.

ADAM BURKE – BD/Dip Min

& LIZ BURKE – Diploma of Bible & Missions

Hurstville Grove NSW

Adam became a Christian in Year 10. After school he studied and worked as a surveyor and trained other surveyors. But over time he found that he wanted to talk to people about Jesus, teach people the Bible and train Christians in ministry. Adam says his thinking about Christianity and related areas has been stretched during his time at College. What particularly impressed him was the centrality of the Scriptures.

Liz is a lawyer and took the year off to study with her husband. They have moved to St Aidan's Hurstville Grove where Adam is the Assistant Minister. Please pray that they can love the saints and serve them in the way the Lord would want them to.

NATASHA CHAN – Diploma of Bible & Missions

Abbotsleigh Girls School
Wahroonga NSW

January 2004 was a change in direction for Natasha. She began assisting with the care of boarding students at Abbotsleigh Girls School in Wahroonga and returned to teaching. Her prayer is that she will settle into her new responsibilities and find opportunities to model the love of Christ. She also prays that she will be teachable and humble and seek to be more like Christ in every way.

BECK COPLAND – Diploma of Bible & MissionsSt Philip's Presbyterian
Newcastle NSW

Beck grew up in Newcastle and now that she has completed her studies at Moore she will be returning to work full-time in her church, St Philip's Presbyterian, Newcastle, where she will be working with children and women in a pastoral care/evangelism role. Newcastle is a large city where God is raising up people to faithfully teach his word. She asks for prayer that many more churches will be faithful to the proclamation of the serving gospel, and for plenty of evangelistic opportunities for herself and the St Philip's congregation.

DAVID COX – BTh/Dip Min
& ELIZABETH COX – Diploma of Bible & Missions*Derby, UK

Derby in the UK is the place where God has called David, Elizabeth and their three children. This year Elizabeth will be taking up a position at St Giles Anglican Church, Normanton-by-Derby working in family and children's ministry. David will be working in IT as well as assisting the church in men's ministry, outreach and preaching. They hope to be used by God to help bring His harvest in.

PAUL DOUGLAS – BD/Dip MinEvergreen Ministries
China

Paul and his wife Helen look forward to going to minister in China. Helen finishes her degree at College this year and they are looking forward to going out with Evergreen Ministries for a long term posting. Paul has been in China and shared in this ministry work and is looking forward to making it home.

GLENN FARRELL – BD/Dip MinSt Paul's
Shellharbour NSW

"College was a scary place to come to and now it's a scary thing to be leaving it!" according to Glenn. He says, "What is scary about leaving is being let loose on the poor people of St Paul's, Shellharbour! I was scared of college beforehand because no one had left my church to come to college for many years and I feared being 'an outsider'. But the college community was welcoming and inclusive.

"And now it is scary to be leaving college because what we think will no longer affect our marks but rather the people among whom we will serve. It is a responsibility not taken lightly but it is taken trusting in God."

ANDREW GODFREY – BD/Dip MinAltona
Melbourne Vic.

"A life-changing experience" is how Andrew spoke of his time at Moore College. "Studying the Word of God at such depth for four years cannot but change you. I have grown deeply in my understanding of God and myself. During my time at Moore I have been struck by the great needs that exist in the world to hear of what Jesus has done. Upon graduation I am looking forward to the opportunity to serve God and His people by seeking, under God, to build up and expand His kingdom. This year I will be a part-time curate at the Parish of Altona in Melbourne's western suburbs as well as completing further training."

SUE GOOLEY – Diploma of Bible & MissionsBack in the work force

Sue grew up in Taree and became a Christian when she moved to Sydney for university. She is married to Ben who is now in 3rd year at Moore. She studied for the Diploma of Bible Missions last year and in 2004 will be working in administration for a life-science product distributor but is hopeful of putting her study to good use in both her job and the church.

NIGEL GORDON – BThSt Matthew's Anglican Church
Shenton Park, Perth WA

Nigel is married to Liz and they have two boys 18 months and 2 months old. Now that study is complete they are going to St Matthew's Anglican Church, Shenton Park, Perth. He will be ministering with the St Matthew's 5pm congregation and working with Perth City Bible Forum.

They ask for prayer to settle in and that they will be faithful and bold teachers of God's word.

MARK GROOMBRIDGE – BD/Dip MinSt Andrews Hall, Melbourne
in preparation for going to Slovenia with CMS

Mark and Rochelle are presently pursuing further studying at St Andrews Hall in Melbourne in preparation for going to Slovenia with CMS. When they return to Sydney in July they will visit the churches that are sending them. In January 2005 they will leave for Slovenia after extensive language training. They plan to be involved in university student ministry sharing the gospel and discipling students. Moore College has provided a solid foundation for this ministry opportunity, providing both Mark and Rochelle with the skills for understanding and teaching God's Word. They are enthused about this opportunity to serve God and thank Him for the blessings and growth that Moore College have brought.

HEFIN JONES – BD/Dip Min

Chinese & Australian Baptist Church
Thornleigh NSW

Hefin comes from Wales and considers it a great privilege and a lot of fun studying at Moore College. He is the Assistant Minister at Chinese and Australian Baptist Church, Thornleigh and shares the preaching, teaching and leading in the English congregations; his main ministry is a focus on students and graduates. He says that he hopes to plant an evening congregation in the near future. He asks us to pray for this ministry and also for that he will be granted a Visa for the next 3 to 4 years.

JOCELYN KIDD – BD/Dip Min

University of Western Sydney
Penrith NSW

The University of Western Sydney, Penrith campus, is where Jocelyn will be serving the Lord this year as an AFES staff worker at CBM (Campus Bible Ministries). Her ministry will involve discipling, training and teaching the Bible to Christian women in CBM and encouraging them to live out the gospel on campus.

Jocelyn is a speech pathologist and whilst studying at the University of Queensland she became involved in the AFES group and began thinking about the possibility of full-time ministry. She decided to go to a theological college to be better equipped to teach others the Bible. She says she considers it a great privilege to have been able to take that time to study God's word intently and to be trained for ministry.

KEITH LAI – BD/Dip Min

Hong Kong / China

China is where Keith and Ada with their two sons, Jedidiah and Joshua, believe God is leading them in the long term. Keith grew up and came to College from Hong Kong, and he and the family have gone back to look for ministry opportunities. Their long-term plans are to be part of a ministry which takes the gospel to China. He asks for prayer that God will guide them into the ministry he wants them to be in and that they will be faithful to his word and hold firm to his promises anywhere they go.

FRANKIE LAW – BTh/Dip Min

Pastor at Living Stone Church at West Pennant Hills NSW

Frankie is married to Cyla and they have one son, Enoch, who has just finished his Law degree at Sydney University. Frankie came to Moore College at a mature age after leaving a senior management job in IT where he had been for 25 years. This year he will be working as one of the pastors at Living Stone Church at West Pennant Hills, where he will be involved in planting a new church later this year. In the past 18 years Chinese Churches in Sydney have been richly blessed and have grown significantly in numbers. New churches have been established and many migrants have been reached.

DAVID LIM – BD/Dip Min

Naremburn NSW

Starting a new Asian congregation in Naremburn Anglican Church is the task that God has for David this year. Last year he married Josephine and she will be helping him in this new ministry as well as continuing to work as a doctor. David thanks God for providing good teachers for him at Moore and prays that God will raise up more people to shepherd the sheep here in Australia and throughout the world.

LUCY LIM – BTh/Dip Min

St Andrew's Cathedral
Sydney NSW

St. Andrew's Cathedral is where God has Lucy ministering this year, with a focus on Asian ministry.

Her husband, Andrew, will continue as a student minister with St Andrew's Cathedral as well as a student minister with Evangelism Ministries. She asks us to pray for boldness for them so that they would make the most of gospel opportunities.

GEOFFREY LIN – BD/Dip Min

Holy Trinity
Adelaide SA

Geoff is very grateful to have been able to study at college for the last four years with his wife Wendy. He says they have learnt an enormous amount about God's Word, as well as having a great time living in the college community. This year they will be in ministry at Holy Trinity Adelaide. They ask for prayer that God would give them insight and compassion through His Spirit as they share the gospel of Jesus.

JASON RAMSAY – BD/Dip Min

St James' Croydon
Croydon NSW

Jason says that studying at Moore has helped him to think through issues theologically and to see what matters. He believes that this will help enormously in the full-time ministry he is about to begin. He is going as Assistant Minister to St James' Croydon and is looking forward to serving there for a number of years.

He and his wife Melissa and two sons have greatly appreciated the chance to live in a community of like-minded people while they studied and they will miss having so many close friends just out the back gate.

ANDREW REES – BD/Dip Min
& LIZ REES – Diploma of Bible & Missions

Kellyville NSW

"They say that Moore College is a rarefied, unrealistic environment. If by that they mean a place filled with passionate people, mind-stretching thoughts and challenge, well then I guess they're right. What a privilege it has been to spend a moment there. That's what four years feels like. You sign up for the first year Greek, blink and someone is saying fourth year is over — time to go!

"It is time to go and we're looking forward to parish ministry at Kellyville Anglican. Looking forward to taking some of the passion we've found here and running with it. I'm looking forward to exploring further, with a new community of believers, the great things that are ours and will soon be ours in Christ!"

ROD SMITH – Diploma of Bible & Missions

Jannali NSW

Rod took a year off from the corporate world to study at college and expects to return to the workforce and serve God there. He will also take part in ministry at Jannali Anglican, leading Bible study, preaching and helping train larger groups on biblical topics. He says that completing at least one year at Bible College is an excellent opportunity to learn and grow in your knowledge of God. It enables you to be more effective in Christian service and makes you become more aware of the need this world has to hear the Gospel. Rod asks "Is God calling you to his harvest field?"

MATT SNELSON – BD/Dip Min

Panania NSW

"I am thankful to God for the opportunity to study at Moore, especially the richness of his Word. College has deepened my knowledge of God through his Word and increased my ministry skills. The loving fellowship of the college community was a fantastic environment to study and live in, a real foretaste of Heaven.

"Meriel and I are both very excited to be given the opportunity to minister at Panania Anglican Church, although shepherding God's precious flock also has daunting aspects to it. This is an exciting time to be an ordained Anglican minister in the Sydney Diocese, and, trusting in God's mercy and goodness, we pray that it will be glorifying to our great God."

GARNET SWANN – BTh/Dip Min

Coorparoo Presbyterian Church

They will minister at Coorparoo Presbyterian Church for the next 12 to 18 months where they will spend half of their time in student ministry at the Presbyterian College and half at Coorparoo Presbyterian church.

GRAHAM THOMAS – BTh/Dip Min

Cottesloe Anglican Church
Perth WA

"In short, my three years at college were tough but rewarding. I had the great privilege of spending time with many loving Christian people whom I already miss. I enjoyed the study, although it stretched me, and have grown in my relationship with God because of the things I have learnt.

"I'm now the Youth Minister at Cottesloe Anglican Church in Perth where there is indeed a plentiful harvest."

JOE WILTSHIRE – Bachelor of Divinity
