GRADUATION 2008

women's ministry

John Woodhouse - Principal

On Friday 12 October, 2007 Narelle Jarrett, the Principal of Mary Andrews College and I were delighted to announce an exciting new initiative. From 1 January 2008 the full time training of women is to be integrated completely into Moore College.

Moore College is, of course, fully committed to the importance of teaching men and women the knowledge and love of God, training them in godly living, and equipping them to share the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ with others wherever the Lord may send them.

For many years Moore College has enjoyed a fruitful partnership with Mary Andrews College (formerly Deaconess House) in the theological education and training of women for Christian ministries. Since 1992 the two colleges have jointly enrolled women students. From 2008 Moore College will take full responsibility for this work. The Board of the Anglican Deaconess Institution Sydney Limited (the parent body of Mary Andrews College) and the Governing Board of Moore College have worked together for over a year to ensure that the work that the two colleges have shared over such a long period will be firmly established, securely funded and strengthened within this new arrangement.

It was the need to redevelop or relocate the Moore College campus that provided the stimulus for Narelle and I to engage in informal discussions more than a year ago about the implications of such changes for the relationship between the colleges. This, in turn, led to a wider ranging exploration of how the two colleges might serve the cause of providing the best possible theological education for the large number of Christian women that the Lord is raising up for gospel ministries.

God has blessed the co-operative work of Mary Andrews College and Moore College particularly over the last 20 years or so. A wide variety of ministries have developed for Christian women in the Diocese of Sydney and beyond. We are committed to praying and working to see this trend continue. There were 71 women enrolled in our colleges in 2007. Our desire is to see many more!

The new arrangement will involve Moore College appointing a number of women to its faculty. The first of these will be Wendy Colquhoun, who will be our Acting Dean of Women for 2008. Wendy has taught part time at Moore College for many years, and we look forward to her fuller involvement with us in her new role.

The Anglican Deaconess Institution Sydney Limited intends to continue to support the work by endowing three new faculty positions for women at Moore College and by making the property at 28 Carillon Avenue available to facilitate the provision of residential accommodation for our single women students.

The decision to integrate this work into Moore College has been accompanied by a re-affirmation of the fundamental equality and mutual dependence of men and women as bearers of God's image, which recognises and affirms the proper differences in roles and responsibilities in life and Christian ministry. We are committed to providing the highest standard of theological education and ministry training for women in the context of the Bible's teaching about the roles and relationships of men and women. The goal is, by God's enabling, to see a growing number of women deepen their knowledge of God so that they might faithfully and effectively live exemplary Christian lives, proclaim and teach the Word of God in appropriate contexts and care for others in the name of Jesus Christ wherever he might place them.

I believe that this very important development will strengthen and expand the training of women for Christian ministries in the Diocese and beyond. It builds on and is a consequence of the outstanding work that has been done by Mary Andrews College, especially over the last 22 years under the principalship of Narelle Jarrett. We pray that God will continue to send more and more women to study at Moore College, and bless churches and the world through their ministries.

PATRICK BENN:

I came to College having spent a number of years working alongside university students, training ministry apprentices and as part of a christian training organisation. Coming to College a bit later in life was challenging as I needed to 're-wire' some of my thinking, yet also rewarding as I knew what to expect upon finishing. Coming with an established family also meant being realistic in my expectations for how much time could be spent studying and how much time needed to be spent with family. I am very thankful for those who have supported us through the last three years in all sorts of ways and thankful to all in my year who have taught me more about ministry. College has been very beneficial in deepening my thinking about the doctrine of God and challenging in sharpening my thinking about ethics. It has also been good to form relationships with those who are at similar stages of their ministry development. This year I have started ministering as an evangelist with the Evangelical Union (EU) at Sydney University. I am confident that the College program has given me the resources and foundation in many areas of public and pastoral ministry and theological thinking so that God may use me to boldly proclaim His gospel.

PETER ORR:

We came to college from the UK. Emma is from Sydney but had been living in London for the last few years before college. So, coming here was half coming home and half coming somewhere new. Thankfully our experience at both college and our church has meant that at the end of 4 years we (and our two kids) definitely feel at home here.

The plan - God willing - is that we will head back to the UK in July - to Durham this time - where I will start a PhD in the area of New Testament. Between now and then we will both continue to be involved with the ministry at St. Matthew's, Ashbury. After the PhD, we are unsure what the next step will be, but trust God would open a door for a suitable ministry.

I have appreciated both the teaching at Moore and the chance to spend so much time with such a godly group of people. As similar as Australia and the UK are, it has been refreshing for me to study somewhere a bit different and to get somewhat of a different angle on life and ministry. I think I will miss both the directness and the informality of Australian culture. One of my abiding memories will be having a very senior faculty member (who will remain nameless!) preaching to us at a house party wearing shorts and thongs! I am not sure I will be able to replicate that in the North East of England - for a number of reasons!

Moore's African Initiative

There is a big need for this sort of training in Kenya,"

Stephen Mbogo, head of African Enterprise in Kenya,

'There is a big need for this sort of training in Kenya,' Stephen Mbogo, head of African Enterprise in Kenya, said back in 2003. He explains: 'Christianity in Kenya has been described as one mile long and one inch deep. One reason for this is because much of the preaching has been done by people with little theological training.'

Stephen Mbogo was speaking almost five years ago after Moore College graduate, Stephen Liggins, had taught the Introduction to the Bible PTC subject full-time over a two week period to a class of 23 Christian leaders in Nairobi.

Since then nine Moore College graduates and one current student have taught PTC subjects to over 330 pastors and lay leaders as part of the ICBS (International Certificate in Biblical Studies) in South-East Africa Project. Subjects are taught full-time over a 1-2 week period. The Project is a joint initiative of the Moore College Department of External Studies and African Enterprise. The Project's aim is 'to provide high quality, low cost, time-friendly theological education to African Christian leaders with little or no theological training,' says Gary Nelson, Moore's Director of External Studies.

The hope is that each student will complete six subjects over one, two or three years to qualify for Moore College's new International Certificate 1 in Biblical Studies.'

In 2007 seven Moore graduates and one Moore student taught subjects in Kenya, Uganda, South Africa and Malawi. There are plans for seven to nine similar teaching visits to be made this year. Stephen Liggins currently serves as Assistant Minister at St Stephen's Anglican Church, Penrith, and has taught in East Africa in 2003, 2004 and 2007. He, with the support of his church, has plans to return to Uganda this year to teach the Doctrine 1 subject in the Anglican Diocese of North Kigezi.

'It is a great privilege to be involved with this Project,' says Stephen. 'The African church is particularly strategic and African Christian leaders are hungry for the sort of theological education which we in Sydney have had the privilege of receiving. In turn, Australians such as myself have a lot to learn from African Christians in the area of evangelism, social action and hospitality. The teaching visits are a real "win-win" situation.'

Sylvia Pillay, a church leader and evangelist from South Africa, is one of the of twelve South African Christians who, last year, were the first people in the world to complete Moore College's new International Certificate 1 in Biblical Studies.

Says Sylvia, 'I was 29 when my husband died and since then I have wanted to go to Bible College but could not afford it.' She continues, 'When AE (i.e. African Enterprise) introduced this training course, it was like God had come down from heaven. It has been so awesome and has opened so much of the Word to me.'

South-East Africa is not the only part of the world where Moore College graduates teach PTC subjects. Similar programs are also being run in India and Nigeria.

'It is a great privilege for Moore Theological College to be able to assist our Christian brothers and sisters in Africa, India and in many other parts of the world in this way,' says Gary Nelson.

 If you would like to find out more about the ICBS in South-East Africa Project – with a view teaching a subject – please contact Stephen Liggins (4722-2363; sliggins@iprimus.com.au) and / OR if you would like to support financially please give to Moore College – External Studies.

The importance of EFAC to the work of the gospel in other parts of the world and in particular in the Global South.

A summary of Bishop Yong Chen Fah's address the EFAC Meeting on 9 January 2008 at the CMS Summer School.

Today, as I stand up on the EFAC (Evangelical Fellowship in the Anglican Communion) platform at this CMS Summer School to speak, I want to share some of my deep concerns with you concerning EFAC and our next generations.

As a result of EFAC's vision and passion today the Global South leadership has taken the leadership to stand firm for the gospel of Jesus Christ and faithful to Scriptures as against the onslaught of the ECUSA (Episcopal Church of the United States of America) liberal theology as was shown at the 1998 Lambeth Conference resolution 1.10.

First, as I see it, the Sydney Diocese, Moore College and CMS are the breeding places for our present and future evangelical leadership. It should be noted that evangelical biblical scholarship today is intellectually respectable. Leadership at the diocesan and parish levels is sound, marked by great Christian integrity and love.

As the Global South leadership now faces a crisis of faith in the Anglican Communion, in particular the situation in ECUSA, they have been driven to re-examine the important issue of theological education at the first degree level as well as at the post-graduate level. This is an area both EFAC leadership in Australia and the local parishes in Sydney Diocese could examine, asking what the parishes, Moore College and other evangelical colleges could contribute.

Let us go back to 2 Timothy 1:13-14 and remind ourselves of the great task these verses assign to us as evangelicals. Second, as I see it, on your doorstep the number of mainland Chinese and Mandarin-speaking Chinese who migrate and come to study here in Sydney and other Australian cities is great. Many of them were converted to Christ on Australian soil. In other words, their Christian homes are here. A few of them are beginning to respond to the Anglican ministries that nurtured them and are studying at Moore College and other evangelical colleges in Australia. Added to these are significant numbers of talented young second-generation English-speaking Chinese at Moore College, as well as at Ridley, Croydon and elsewhere. Through such evangelical and vigorous training in theology for four years they will become God's mighty army. Hence, I want to urge the leadership of the Diocese, the theological colleges and CMS to rethink your strategies for today and tomorrow. Last night I heard this statement: 'In 20 years' time, 62% of active Christians will come from China and India.' This kind of statement from a responsible evangelical leader will cause me to rethink my strategies for mission today and plan for the future. Of course, in the end we should turn to the Lord in prayer and act on what we pray for.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ! Let me encourage you to turn to the word of God in Isaiah 54:2-3:

Enlarge the place of your tent, stretch your tent curtain wide, do not hold back; lengthen your cords, strengthen your stakes.
For you will spread out to the right and to the left,
your descendants will dispossess nations and settle in their desolate cities.

2008 sees 110 new undergraduate students

In the Beginning – Our Incoming Students 2008

Rhonda Barry

February 2008 saw 110 new undergraduate students commence at Moore College. The 2008 students come from a variety of occupational backgrounds such as musicians, engineers, nurses, IT specialists, accountants, sales and teachers, from a variety of regions. Although the majority of incoming students are from the Sydney metropolitan area, in 2008 we also welcome students from South Australia, Queensland, Victoria, Hong Kong and New Zealand.

Behind them lies the application process. It might begin with a phone call, an email or browsing the College website. Phone to organise a preliminary interview! Send in the application form!

The process involves meetings and interviews with members of the College faculty, the College Governing Board, representatives of Ministry Training and Development from the Sydney Diocese and clerical and lay representatives of the Diocese as a whole. These meetings provide an opportunity for applicants to discuss their ministry goals, personal objectives and obtain assistance with issues such as the right way forward to achieve these goals and the best choice of course. The College is deeply encouraged by the calibre of the applicants and their desire to serve Jesus through their particular ministry goals.

And immediately ahead for incoming students—a three week summer intensive session, which for most students focuses on commencing studies on reading the New Testament text in the original Greek language, with additional sessions on Hebrew, the language of the Old Testament, orientation to college life, missions and a visit from a representative of the Bible Society.

The three weeks, which includes a weekend away, provides an opportunity for incoming students to spend an extended time together developing relationships with their peers which will serve as a fellowship and support group long after their time at college is completed. But for now, there is an essay or two!

ANDREW FORD

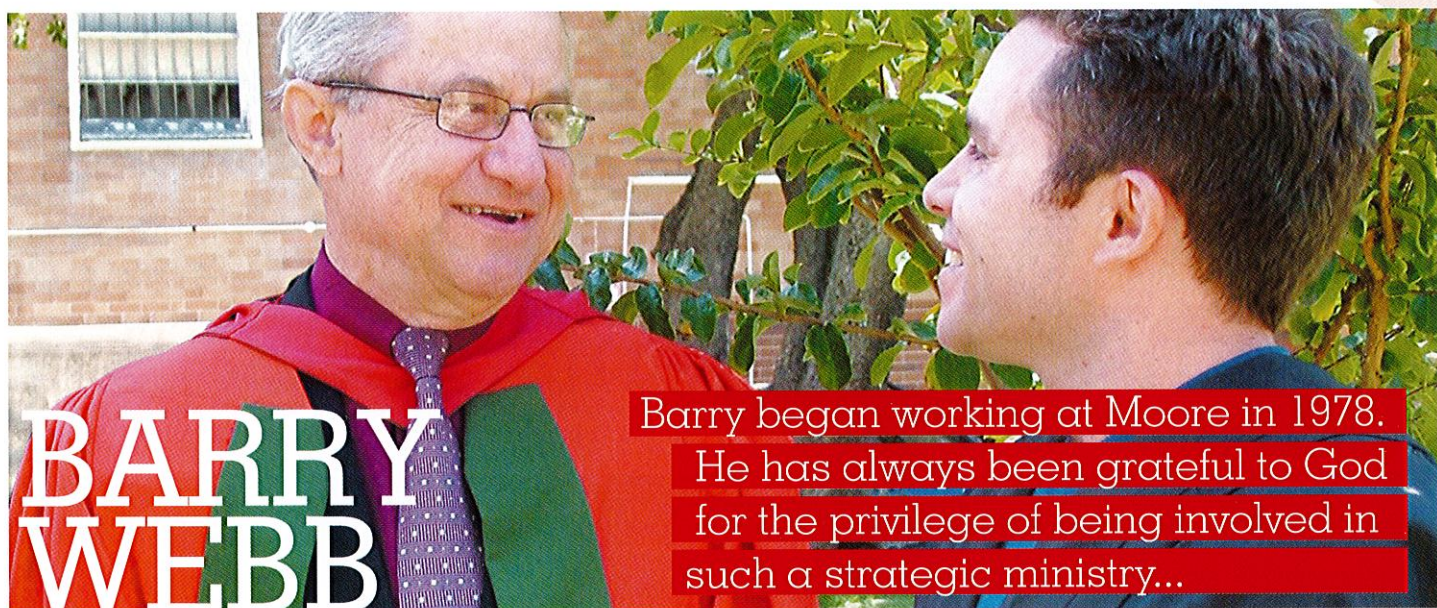

A year ago I finished one of those circles life throws up every now and then. A decade ago we were studying here at Moore with a view to parish ministry. After spending some time in Broome WA and then at St. Barnabas Broadway- working alongside God's people in the great plans of Jesus and the proclamation of His gospel, the Ford family find themselves back at Moore playing our part in the training and equipping of women and men for that same kingdom service. Having made it through my second 'first' year at college, I am looking forward to my second 'second' year, hopefully knowing a little more and spending more time refining rather than concocting, and a little more time with people rather than papers.

Sometimes I hear people comparing college to church and in some respects this is a valid observation. After all we have the joy of spending our lives with a group of people who thoroughly love Jesus, who are learning from His word and growing more like him. Another similarity is that college is a place of diversity and unity - many parts, one body. For example amongst the faculty I have observed a strong underlying unity in Christ, a unity of purpose, and the unity of our first love - Jesus Christ. But at the same time an unexpected diversity. A diversity of gifts and abilities, a diversity of thoughts, ideas and opinions, of experiences, strengths and weaknesses. A diversity that is good and appropriate, that adds to the college and our goal. As I start out on another year it is with a humble anticipation that I look forward to the ways that Christ will use me and my God given distinctives in the college community, as a pastor, as a teacher, as a father and husband and above all as a lover of Christ. Amongst other things, this year I will again be teaching some Christian Ethics, Early Church History and New Testament, along with this I will be continuing my role as the Registrar of External Studies, and having some specific pastoral concern for first year.

For us who serve here, if college is in some ways like a church, then in other significant ways it is far removed from what we would hope Christ's church would be. More than anything else, there are very few not-yet-Christians in our immediate gathered community, and so the work I find myself doing day by day is more about edification rather than evangelism. We are the Drill Sergeants rather than the front line troops, we work at Holsworthy not in Kabul or East Timor. That's not to say that for those with eyes to see and hearts to feel the harvest isn't before us. And so with great joy we have thrown ourselves this last year into the ministry of our local church, St Stephen's Newtown- and look forward to that participation increasing this coming year. However, in reality as a member of MTC faculty I have come to the realisation that my role is now one that comes with a fair degree of delayed satisfaction. For ministry in the end is about seeing the Name of Christ glorified, people coming to him, recognising him as Lord and Saviour and being transformed by him. So as another cohort of graduates move out into all the world, I rejoice that Christ will be glorified through them and the ministry they do in His name.

In some small way God has graciously allowed me and my colleagues the privilege of playing a part in preparing them for a life of ministry and service of Jesus. May I and they continue to live and serve worthy of Him.

Barry began teaching at Moore in 1978. He has always been grateful to God for the privilege of being involved in such a strategic ministry, helping to equip hundreds of people for a lifetime of gospel ministry.

After fifteen years as head of the Old Testament Department he is now a Senior Research Fellow. This has given him the opportunity to devote more time to writing, an aspect of his ministry which has expanded in recent years. Among other things he has written commentaries on Isaiah, Zechariah and five of the shortest and most puzzling books of the Old Testament (The Song of Songs, Ruth, Lamentations, Ecclesiastes, and Esther). He is currently working on a commentary on the book of Judges. Translations of Barry's writings have been published in Dutch, Hungarian, and Chinese and translations into other languages are in production. Last year Barry was privileged to be able to teach a Masters course at George Whitfield College in Cape Town, and will return this year, God willing, to speak at a pastors' conference on expository preaching. Barry and Alison attend Newtown Mission Church, where Barry contributes mainly by preaching and doing one-to-one pastoral work. Alison helps at Sunday school and in the Mission Support Group. Alison also teaches Mandarin at Claremont College. They have both been involved informally in gospel ministry to mainland Chinese people for many years. This year Alison expects to be spending nine weeks in China to assist in the running of a school for handicapped young people. The location is in central western China, well away from the main tourist areas, so it will be quite a challenge and adventure for Alison. Please pray for her. Barry and Alison have three adult daughters, Miriam and Tabitha in Sydney and Simcha in London. Last year they became grandparents!

— SERVING THE WORLD

Gary Nelson

From a small beginning with lectures by TC Hammond over 60 years ago External Studies now reaches into nearly 60 countries with around 5,000 students.

At present External Studies offers two main courses – Certificate in Theology (by correspondence or online) and Diploma of Biblical Studies (by evening lectures). As well, to assist the training of pastors, evangelists and church leaders in developing countries, we have an International Certificate in Biblical Studies which is mainly offered through intensives in places such as Africa and India. Our material is widely acknowledged as biblical and helpful for equipping people for their Christian growth as they come to know the Bible better.

Certificate in Theology course material has been translated into Spanish and traditional Chinese script. We are presently working on translation projects in Africa (Hausa) and India (many languages), along with a simplified Chinese script translation. There are also translation projects we are investigating for the future (e.g. Tongan). There is a risk element associated with studying our External Studies courses since about 70-75% of all full-time students at Moore have studied some units in our courses; while many acknowledge the role that External Studies has played in shaping their decision to come to College or as providing helpful preparation for college.

So the challenge is two-fold:

- are you enrolled in a course? If not, then contact our office or check our website for more information (see below for contact details).
- are you running a group in your church? If not, then why not make it an aim for this year (for assistance in this please contact our Director, Gary Nelson).

BACHELOR OF DIVINITY

Sarah Browne

Give thanks for the amazing privilege of taking time out to study God's Word for the great teaching, and the relationships that have grown over the years. In 2008 I will be involved in chaplaincy and teaching at Penrith Anglican College. Please pray that I would continue to grow in the knowledge and love of God and be bold in His service in the coming years. In the shorter term that the practicalities of moving, starting a new job and forming new relationships would be smooth and in doing these things that I would have many opportunities to share what I have learnt here at college.

Andrew Bruce

Give thanks for the many things about God I have been privileged to learn especially about the life of Jesus, his death and resurrection and how this changes everything. In 2008 I will be Assistant Minister at a Lower Blue Mountains Anglican Parish. Please pray that Kath and I adjust to being parents for the first time and settle in well to the new place, role and people.

Adam Chessum

Give thanks for the privilege of being able to study and be part of the college community. Please pray that I would continue to grow in the knowledge of God, be eager to preach Christ crucified, and that God would help me to live a life worthy of the Gospel.

Alistair Chiu

Please give thanks for the things I have learned and the relationships formed at college. In 2008 I am planning to work in an Anglican Church within the Sydney Diocese.

David Clancey

I am thankful for the godly environment in which God has bought me to a greater understanding and love for Him, His word, and His people.

I'm particularly grateful for the faculty as well as my brothers and sisters who have constantly pushed me to grow in my love and knowledge of Him. In 2008 I am planning to be the curate-in-charge of an Anglican Church in Methven, in the Southern Alps of NZ. I will also be 'ministry enabling' in two surrounding parishes, training and supporting their congregational ministry. Pray for faithfulness in marriage and ministry that I would love the people God entrusts to me and that I have a strong heart as I miss Moore.

John Forsyth

We give thanks for the way God has blessed us in meeting fantastic people who have shown us God's grace and love. In 2008 I will be working in a church plant which meets in a school in Beverly Hills.

Please pray that as we begin our new job that we will really get to know the people at Beverly Hills so we can serve them better and that the kids will settle into a new house and school.

BACHELOR OF DIVINITY

Kara Gilbert

I give thanks for the chance to take time out to be stretched and equipped theologically for service in God's kingdom work. In 2008 I am joining the ministry team at St Paul's Carlingford. My main role will be training women (MTS trainees, lay leaders) one to one and overseeing the women's ministry across the St Paul's group of churches. Please pray that I will grow in Christ likeness, depend on God for all things and love his people.

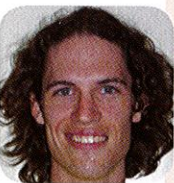

Ben Gray

I am grateful for the caliber of the faculty and the people I have been studying with. In 2008 I am planning to pastor the young adults and 5pm congregation at Glenmore Park Anglican. Please pray that my family and I settle in well.

Russ Grinter

I am thankful for times of rigorous study, fun along the way and friendships forged in all these times. In 2008 I will be working as the AFES Senior Staff worker in Bendigo, VIC. Please pray that I will build strong relationships with those who work on the campus of La Trobe Bendigo and with regional churches in Victoria.

Craig Hamilton

I am thankful for the privilege of being able to study and be part of the college community. Please pray that I will continue growing in the knowledge of God, be eager to preach Christ crucified and that God would enable me to live a life worthy of the Gospel.

Tom Harricks

We give thanks for the privilege of being able to study at college and to be part of the college community. Please pray that we would continue growing in the knowledge of God, be eager to preach Christ crucified and that God will help us to live a life worthy of the Gospel.

Rob Horne

We have appreciated living at Newtown and particularly for the blessing of a playground! In 2008 we will be moving to St Andrews Hall in Melbourne to begin training with CMS. We have plans, under God, to head to the Philippines in 2009 to be involved in student ministry.

Danny Jang

Thank God for a wonderful four years in Sydney. In 2008 our family will be part of Grace Church, Greenwich. Please pray that we would settle in well, and be able to forge good relationships. Please pray too, that I will teach the Word of God faithfully, lead my family to grow in godliness, lead people to know the Lord and guide them to grow in Christian maturity.

Martin Kemp

Give thanks for the friends I have made at college and the skills I have been taught that hopefully will carry me through my ministry. In 2008 I am working as the Young Adults Minister at St Paul's Castle Hill. Please pray that God will grant me wisdom to lead well as I step into this full-time role.

Rodney Kerr

I give thanks for the relationships I've built at college. It has been great to get to know such wonderful brothers and sisters. In 2008 I will be working at Wentworth Falls Anglican as Assistant Minister where I will be responsible for the youth work and young families in the parish. Please pray that the family would feel settled in quickly.

David Keun

Give thanks for growth in my knowledge of God and thanks for the friendships that I have made at college. In 2008 I will be working at Norwest Anglican, Baulkham Hills. Please pray that I would 'keep it real', keep loving Jesus and keep loving my family.

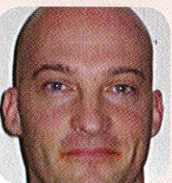

Matthew King

Give thanks for the generosity and support we have received from many people over the four years at college. In 2008 I am working as Assistant Minister at Bondi Beach Anglican Church. Please pray that I would be a faithful servant of Jesus Christ and live as an example to those around me. Pray also for my family as we move house and settle in to a new area and start a new school.

Chooi Kok

Give thanks for the opportunity to grow under God's word and for the friendships made at MAC and Moore College. In 2008 I will be serving at St Thomas' Auburn. Please pray that God will help me in the re-adjustment to full time work and life post-college.

Andrew Levy

Give thanks for faithful teaching, the time to reflect on the depth and breadth of God's word and the new-found friendships. In 2008 I will be the Assistant Minister at St Philip's, Caringbah, looking after the 18-35 year old age group in particular. Please pray for me to be a faithful Christian, husband and minister of the Gospel. Pray that I will drink deeply from God's word and continually seek guidance and strength from Christ by his Spirit.

Kenny Liew

I give thanks for the first-class education and wonderful faculty and friends who love the gospel. Also for our two children born during our time at Moore! In 2008 we plan to tell the gospel to Asians in the Hills District. Please pray for health and motivation to be a good dad and husband and to keep serving God.

Jonathan Lilley

Give thanks for God's provision in guiding and enabling through four amazing years at College. Also the great friendships I've made with both students and lecturers. In 2008 the family and I are heading to All Saints, Nowra to work amongst the Indigenous people. Please pray for us all as we try and make inroads into the community to share of His great love for us all.

Caroline Litchfield

I give thanks for the opportunity to be equipped to teach God's word and for the encouraging relationships that we've built. I praise God for the encouragement I've received and for the ways in which God has helped me to trust Him more. In 2008 I'll start as a Women's Worker at Holy Trinity Church in Adelaide, running the Ladies' Bible study groups, training the women doing MTS and bible study group leaders. Please pray for me that I will settle quickly into Holy Trinity; and that I will be faithful in prayer and in teaching the Bible.

Ed Loane

I give thanks for my time at College, the way God has deepened my experience of him and helped me to love Jesus more. In 2008 I am planning to be preaching Christ crucified in Moorebank, focusing on the branch church at Hammondville. Please pray for our family (Joc, Jemima and our baby due in April). That we will have a smooth transition into parish life, and that I will be bold and gentle in full time pastoral work.

Seumas MacDonald

I give thanks that my lecturers and colleagues have spurred me on to a deeper knowledge of Christ and a more faithful life of obedience. In 2008 I am working for Glenquarie Anglican Church, while pursuing further studies. Please pray for me as I face the challenges of pastoral ministry, further study, and living in light of Christ's return.

Tim McIver

I give thanks for the 4th Year corridor and lively discussions. In 2008 I will be an Assistant Minister at Moorebank Anglican Church looking after the evening congregation and youth ministry. Please pray for discipline in quiet times.

Paul McPhail

I give thanks for great friendships, great teaching, great food and a gracious Lord. In 2008 I join the Youthworks training team as a youth ministry adviser to the Wollongong region. Our home church will be Rosemeadow Anglican. Please pray for wisdom, humility and love and that I accept responsibilities that will stretch me. Pray too, that my family will settle and that we make opportunities to share our lives and the gospel.

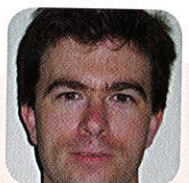

Trent Minton

Give thanks for the many brothers and sisters the Lord has placed around us to encourage and build us up in our faith. In 2008 we are serving the flock at Beverly Hills. Please pray that we make inroads into the community with the good news of our Lord Jesus, and that Fi, Manning and I serve faithfully in our ministry. Pray too, that God would make clear to us where we should serve Him beyond Beverly Hills.

Dave Moore

I give thanks for a patient and discerning wife, generally healthy kids, and faculty members who long to see us grow in Christ. In 2008 I plan to be Pastor the Newcastle Unichurch Congregation of Hunter Bible Church. Please pray that God would be glorified by our lives, marriage and family and for our growth and that my stutter might go away or just not be an issue.

Scott Newling

I give thanks for College, a bright light shining in much darkness and for the grace of God that we have had the privilege to study and live ('bask') in this light for four years. In 2008 I will be Assistant Minister at St Mark's, Berowra. Please pray that we'd be a light shining in darkness in whatever we do. Pray too, that I'd feed the weak, seek the lost, and appoint suitable shepherds to do likewise and also be a loving husband, caring father, and live a life worthy of being followed.

David Ould

I give thanks for the birth of our 2 children and the love shown to us by our peers at college. Thanks also for the way my thinking has been shaped by the academic process during the four years. In 2008 I will be the Assistant Minister at St Augustine's, Neutral Bay Anglican Church. Please pray for us that Jacqui, Charis, Ethan and I will all adjust well to parish life.

Steve Prior

Well, it's hard to believe it's over! Cathy and I look back over the past four years in wonder and praise. God has helped us and taught us and blessed us through both the wonderful and the difficult. We are now settling into a gentle year of just 'being' near our family in Canberra, myself as a Postie, Cathy as a mum, and Matty as a rascally 1yr old. We are also excited about the imminent arrival of his first sibling.

Alexander Purnomo

I give thanks for the privilege of being trained rigorously in a gospel-shaped community. In 2008 I plan to work as an Assistant Minister at St Mark's Anglican, Saldeir / Green Valley, intending to church plant in Green Valley (in 3 years). Please pray for my work in Sadleir / Green Valley.

Dean Reilly

I give thanks for a great four years, for learning more than I thought I knew. I am thankful for the community life which will be greatly missed. In 2008 I am working as Assistant Minister at Appin and Rosemeadow Parish. Please pray for our family, Catherine, Isaac, Joshua, Micah, Hannah, Nahum and Simeon. Pray to, that we will transition into parish well and that we will be able to spend good time together as a family.

Geoff Robson

We are most grateful for the friendships we have made; for the way God has sustained our family through various hard times and for the depth of learning from God's word. In 2008 I am planning to serve as Assistant Minister at St Andrew's, Anglican Church in Wahroonga. Please pray for God to watch my life and doctrine closely! Pray too that God will care for my wife Liz and our kids (Johanna and Will) as we relocate and start our new ministry.

Michael Sams

It has been a privilege to sit under God's word and to be faithfully taught for four years. I have also really appreciated the brothers and sisters that I have shared my life with during this time. In 2008 I will be the Assistant Minister at Earlwood Anglican, looking primarily after the young family service. Please pray for us as we move house, start this new ministry and expect a new baby all at the same time. Would you also pray that we can be godly servants to the people of Earlwood and that we will remain forever faithful.

Polly Seidler

I am very thankful for the opportunity to have studied the scriptures and that I have been able to get to know God better. I have also appreciated the caring, godly faculty and my fellow students. In 2008 I will be teaching Scripture at Darlinghurst Primary and returning to secular family work. I also hope to assist with Ecom / City Bible Forum (to be confirmed). Please pray for discipline in prayer, prioritization in time management, for God's gospel of grace, allowing myself to get adequate rest time.

David Skirving

We give thanks for the true, the good and the beautiful seen perfectly in the Lord Jesus Christ and thank God for time to reflect on this at college. In 2008 I plan to serve the people of St. Lawrence's Anglican Church, Dalkeith, Perth as an Assistant Minister with a focus on youth. Pray for wisdom for whether to be ordained in Perth. Please pray that my ministry will bear fruit that will last. Pray also that the three girls in my life, wife Mya and daughters Sasha (7) and Sophie (5) (all Sydney girls) will thrive as Christians in the wild West.

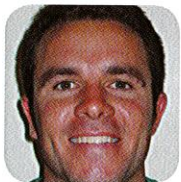

Richard Sweatman

We give thanks for godly and encouraging colleagues and for the knowledge and wisdom of the faculty at Moore. In 2008 I will work as a Congregational Pastor with the independent Hunter Bible Church in Newcastle. We praise the Lord for the safe arrival of Andrew and a brother for Alex. Please pray that we might find a suitable place to live near church and be able to raise the funds needed for part of my salary.

Luther Symons

We are most thankful for the fellowship within our year. The year is full of people who love the Lord Jesus and who seek to honour him in all that they do. In 2008 I will be serving as an Assistant Minister at St George North Anglican Church pastoring the 10:30am and 7pm congregations. Please pray for our family move to Bexley and that the nominators at St George North will find a suitable new rector.

Martin Telfer

We give thanks for great friends we have made at college and for the wisdom of the faculty members. In 2008 I will be the chaplain at Tara Anglican Girls School in the Hills District. Please pray that I will be able to present Jesus to the school community in a way that is truthful and engaging.

Bec Watson

I give thanks for God's gracious mercy in forgiveness of my sins, and thank Him for the many faculty and friends. In 2008 I am planning to work for Youthworks as a Regional Youth Advisor for the Northern and Southern Sydney regions and as a tutor for the Year 13 Gospel Gap Year program. Please pray for a new church for me in 2008.

Kamal Weerakoon

I have very much appreciated the Moore College community - students, faculty and staff. In 2008 I am planning to study at Presbyterian Training College and continue as a student minister at Strathfield Presbyterian Church. Please pray for multicultural ministry that I will be directing at Strathfield Presbyterian.

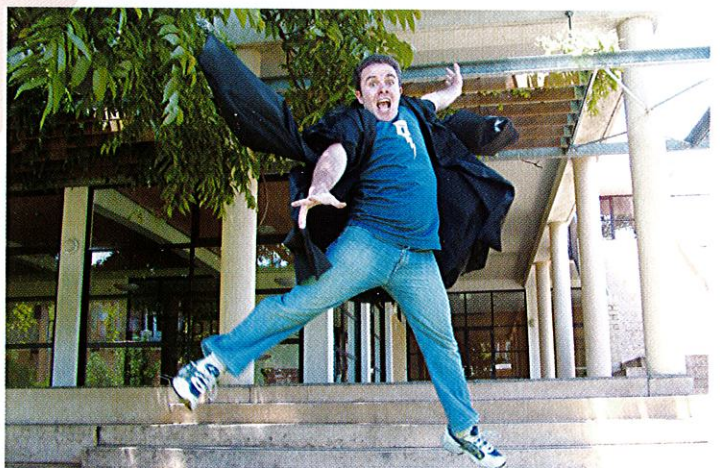

Matthew Whitfield

I give thanks for four years of being exposed to the bible, theological thinkers, and the way that has equipped me to serve. In 2008 I am planning to work as Assistant Minister at Annandale Anglican Church pastoring and teaching the evening congregation. Please pray for my family as we move to a new church, that I would faithfully serve them and all under my care.

David Yu

I give thanks for the opportunity to learn in the company of like-minded men and women. In 2008 I will be completing my studies at Presbyterian Theological College at Burwood. Please pray for me as I study more and learn what God has for me.

Timothy AdeneyBen Beilharz*Robyn Bain

This year I am expecting our first baby in May and carving out my own ministry in our new home city of Brisbane. In the meantime, Andrew will be teaching at the Queensland Theological College. College has shown me the enormous need for good, thoughtful bible teachers.

Naomi Chong

I give thanks for College support staff and for the luxury and importance of being taught to 'think theologically' about life, the universe and everything. In 2008 I am preparing to be a mum. Please pray for Steve and myself as we become parents and minister at Kogarah Presbyterian. Pray for opportunities to get to know non-Christian women in the Kogarah community.

Gavin Crossley

Like a tree, I'm grateful for three years of downward, invisible growth, the roots now go deeper. In 2008 I will spend the year preparing to go to Vietnam in 2009. Please pray that God keeps me joyful in difficulties and firm to the end.

Denesh Divyanathan

I give thanks for the opportunity to grow in knowledge and love of God through the faithful teaching and godly witness of the faculty at college. In 2008 I am planning to pursue post-graduate studies in the USA starting in January, please pray for me and my family as we make the move to Chicago. Please also pray for new friendships in the USA and that our time in Chicago will prepare us well to unashamedly proclaim Christ when we return to Singapore.

Bernard Gabbott

I am working as a farmhand in the North-West of NSW (near a small town called Mullaley, west of Gunnedah). This is a chance for us to refresh, think and rest after some health problems experienced after the birth of our little boy. I will be involved in a lay capacity in the parish of Tambar Springs-Mullaley-Premier (in the Armidale Diocese). College has been a great experience. God has been, and is, extremely kind. We have really appreciated the community of Little Queen Street, our year and the staff and faculty. We have had our understanding of God and serving him expanded and changed. We have been loved and shown how to love, as we have been reminded of God's great

James Gannon

I have appreciated the opportunity to study God's word and to learn more about Him. In 2008 I plan to work as an Assistant Minister in the Benefice of Henham, Elsenham and Ugley in England. Please pray that I will always strive to lead my family in a godly way and that I will proclaim God's word faithfully this year and beyond.

Ian Halbisch

The friends I've made, especially those who approach things a little differently to me have been a great blessing. In 2008 I will be working part-time at Drummoyne Presbyterian church and studying at Presbyterian Theological College, Burwood. Pray that the skills and enthusiasm I've gained from college would not wither but bear fruit in the future.

Luke Hansard

I am very grateful for a top notch theological education. In 2008 I will be working as an AFES staff worker at Tasmania University, with international students and studying part-time at the Presbyterian Theological College. Please pray that I can balance fund raising for the job and preparations for living in Hobart.

Charles HebblewhiteJames Hansen

God has taught me many things about his character and his purposes for his people during this time at college. I thank God for the people I've gotten to know during my time here. In 2008 we start preparations to be sent by our local church to support and strengthen the church in south-east Asia (OMF process commenced). I will also work 2 days per week at Drummoyne Presbyterian Church and also with the international students at UTS. Please pray for insight as to how to care for our parents in the next few years given our plans to leave Australia in '09 and the recent birth of Myles.

Paul James

It has been terrific to have the opportunity to be better equipped for ministry over these past few years at college. I have also really appreciated the deep and caring relationships formed whilst there. We pray that God will maintain those relationships throughout our lifetimes. In 2008 we return to our home church at Panania where I will start work as Assistant Minister. Please pray for wisdom in how to best serve my brothers and sisters as a full-time worker and how best to reach our community for Christ. Pray also for godliness both at home and in public and for pastoral sensitivity in serving people.

Damien Jenner

Having this time to spend in God's word and have my mind challenged and stretched has been very special. I thank God for the support of my wife Justine and the joy of my three sons Benjamin (3 1/2yrs), Rory (1 1/2yrs) and Zachary (3mth). In 2008 we plan to move to Young to support Tim and Sue Ravenhall at the Presbyterian Church in a lay capacity. I will be seeking secular employment while I study my Dip Ed. with the desire to eventually be involved in school's ministry. Please pray that God would provide suitable employment and accommodation for our family in Young and that the move would go smoothly and we would be able to settle quickly and make friends.

John Lee (Kwong Wing)

Studying God's word and thinking hard about things that really matter has been a great privilege for me over these past few years. This time will greatly influence the rest of this life and with hope in Christ in the next. In 2008 I begin planting a church in Rockdale Anglican Church for the diverse ethnic community. As well as this I am the Chaplain to St. George Christian School. Please pray for me and my family as we move and take up these challenging jobs, that we will depend on God at this time and in the future. Pray also that God will show mercy to the community that I'll be in and that many will hear and believe the Gospel.

Seti Latu

Andrew Lewis

Praise God for the opportunity to have had God's word taught faithfully and to have seen my own life challenged and shaped by it. In 2008 I am planning to serve at St Matthew's, West Pennant Hills for two years before I return to the Navy in 2010 as a Chaplain. Please pray for Jo and me as we move to St Matts while our girls, Caitie and Gaby remain at St Paul's Castle Hill. Also that suitable leadership can be identified for the young men's small group that I currently lead at St Paul's and for the sense of loss as Jo and I leave the small group that we have been part of for the past 4 years.

David Lynch

David is thankful for God's care and provision for him and his family whilst at College. This year he returns to Tasmania.

Stuart Maze

I am grateful for the friendships I have gained, the theological grounding learnt and the insights of my peers and lecturers at college. In 2008 I am starting a church plant in Peakhurst, please pray for wisdom, patience and love as I teach, pastor and lead this new ministry.

Phil Riley

It has been wonderful to have the opportunity to be immersed in God's word with likeminded brothers and sisters. This year I have taken up an Assistant Minister's position in West Tamworth in the Armidale Diocese. Please pray for me in the transition from full time study to ministry and that I can achieve a healthy balance in church and family life. Please also pray that the right people can be found for three more positions in the Diocese.

Dan Shepherd

I thank God that Bible College has been a like a theological honeymoon. College has been the start of a life-long task of Christian thinking. This year I have returned to Tassie to work as an Assistant Minister to the Minister of Crossroads Presbyterian. Please pray for us as we settle in that we will be used by God to love the people and share His word with them.

Jason Smart

Give thanks for the knowledge that's been passed on to us, the fellow workers we've met and the babies that have been born. In 2008 we're planning to call Jesus our Lord, also planning to do our final year at Presbyterian Theological College in Burwood. Please pray that we would always stand firm in our faith, that our boys would be filled with the Spirit, that we would be models of dependence on Christ to them and that we might get some clarity on where we should go at the end of 2008.

Russell Smidt

I have gotten to know God, His Word and His purposes better during my time at Moore. In 2008 God-willing I am planning to study at Presbyterian Theological College, Burwood and serve part-time at Epping Presbyterian Church. Please pray that our family will quickly adjust to the change of Colleges, for somewhere to live near Church and that we persevere in the faith.

Chris Smith

I give thanks for all that I have learnt about God from His Word and the preparation this has been for serving Him. It has also been a great privilege to meet so many people. We are particular grateful to have been part of the But-Har-Gra community. In 2008 I plan to Pastor a new church plant just north of London in the UK. Please pray for me and my family as we say goodbye to good friends and make all the necessary adjustments. Please also pray that we would honour God as we serve this new church and that people would be reached and built up where we are.

Samuel Tan

I give thanks for the things I've learnt about God and the friendships I've made. In 2008 I have gone back to IT. Please pray that God will provide for my family (wife and 2 children) as we adjust to a very different life and that we find a Church to serve in.

Lynne Wilson

This year I will be at St Thomas, North Sydney serving as a Women's Worker. I have gained so much from being at Moore, the friendships, the support of the lecturers; the community and the wonderful teaching have all contributed towards my growth and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour. God has used all these things to challenge me and change me over the years. The result is that he has strengthened me and ignited my passion to take the gospel to the many broken people in our world. Please pray that I will transition well from college to full time ministry and that I will be faithful to God in all I do.

//GRADUATING STUDENTS

DIPLOMA OF BIBLE AND MINISTRY

Paul Mahaffey

I give thanks for the high levels of teaching and fellowship at college. In 2008 I am planning to use what I have learnt in my home congregation. Please pray that I might serve God faithfully both in the congregation and in my prison ministry.

Glen Smith

We would appreciate prayer for God's guidance regarding the ministry and work roles that I should take up this year. Please pray for us to be godly, patient and trusting in our Lord and his awesome provision.

DIPLOMA OF BIBLE AND MISSIONS

Jo Cayzer

Give thanks that I have learnt about who God is and who I am in relationship with him and the relationships I have built with others. In 2008 I am planning to work as a psychologist /counsellor somewhere in Sydney. Pray that I would continue to learn and grow in godliness, continue supporting my husband Tory as he studies on and find work without too much stress.

Sarah Forsyth

I've had a wonderful year at Moore studying the Bible and making good friends. This year I am back at work as a full time physiotherapist and enjoying that whilst using what I have learnt at Moore in the kids' ministry and evening church ministry at Christ Church, Gladesville.

Lee-Ann Hansen

Therese Hargraves

I have made great friends at college and have learnt amazing things. I am very grateful for being able to study for a year and not having to work full time. In 2008 I will be at Crinken Church, Dublin, Ireland with my husband three days a week as a children's worker. Please pray for us as we pack and leave for Ireland, and say our goodbyes to family and friends.

Rebecca Hsu

I enjoyed my year studying at Moore and I learnt a lot which will help in my ministry in the future. It was a little difficult studying, being pregnant, and having the baby during the year, so this year I am delighted to be at home with our gorgeous Azaria, now five months and supporting my husband Weber who is in 2nd year.

Katie James

I give thanks for the friends I have made at college, the opportunity to get to know God better and to refocus my life on Him. In 2008 I am planning to return to science teaching in Bankstown, please pray that I would continue to think deeply about the things of God.

Robyn Kapp

Give thanks for the opportunity I have had to learn more about our wonderful God and what he did for me through his son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Thanks that I felt so welcome in all aspects of college life. In 2008 I will be continuing in my position as the Parish Administrator at Christ Church, Gladesville (commenced in Term 3 2007). Please pray that I will be focused on Jesus in all I do and that I will grow to be more like him each day; that I will be patient and understanding in my dealings with my church family.

Jennifer Leahy

Steven Lee

I'm thankful for the year at college spending time reflecting on God's word and being challenged by faculty and fellow students. Next year Shirley and I plan to be moving to Malaysia.

Siân Lim

Going back to teaching English to high school students and continuing on at Brighton Le Sands Anglican with husband, Ben (3rd year student).

Kathryn Lovell

I give thanks for God's goodness to me in all things, for all that I have learnt, for the opportunity to study with my husband Scott and for the wonderful people I have come to know and love. In 2008 I am planning to be a mum (due early April). Please pray for me as I rediscover life outside of college and prepare for motherhood.

Nerissa and Sebastian Ma

We thank God for the privilege of studying God's word and meeting many Christian friends at Moore College. Pray that God will continue to guide us in further study and new ministry to Asian people.

Melissa Manwaring

I thank God for being exposed to different views on the Christian life and Christian ministry in different places, cultures and times throughout history and for the warnings and encouragements that have been presented. In 2008 I am preparing to be a Mum (in April). Please pray for wisdom in knowing how to be a godly mum and wife and to figure out how I can serve God best in the new opportunities He provides in the future.

Agnes Nemes-Chow

What an eventful year! Moving from Singapore to Australia one day before the starting of school, studying together with my husband, Ivan for the first time, serving in a new church (FOCUS at UNSW), giving birth to our baby daughter, Sophia 3 days after the last exam. I'm very thankful to God for helping us through all these changes. Please pray that I'll serve Him faithfully as a full-time wife/mother.

Tania Nguyen

Give thanks for the wonderful friendships I've formed at college whilst being equipped in running the race ahead. In 2008 I am planning to return to work and commence general practice training. Please pray for growth in loving service in all of my relationships - with Jesus, with my soon to be husband and those I have the opportunity to witness to.

Susan Playsted

I give thanks that the lectures have allowed me to better listen to God speak to me from his word. In 2008 I will be a mum and the supportive wife of a second year student. Please pray for the starting of a new phase in our family and ministry together.

Liz Shannon

I have learnt and been encouraged by our lectures and our awesome year group; I have especially been challenged to work on my relationship with God. In 2008 I pray that I will be a good wife as I serve alongside my husband Liam, at Cabramatta Anglican. I also pray that I will be a good Mum for Aidan (3 months). Please pray for a smooth adjustment and that I will remember God and the great things He has taught me this year.

Robert Stewart

to Liz and they have 3 daughters. They attend St Matthew's West Pymble and praise God for this church family. Please pray that they trust God more and grow in wisdom in their new ministry.

Olivia Webster

I give thanks that all the things I've learnt have expanded my view of God. In 2008 I will serve at All Saints, Petersham and work as a physiotherapist supporting Dan who'll be in 2nd year. Pray that I would be obsessed by Jesus and not hold back anything in service to him.

Daniel Wheadon

I am so grateful for the opportunity to have learned more about God through his word and for the friendships I have made here. I am now back to work at the Reserve Bank and serve at my church (The Bible Talks) as a lay person. Please pray for me that I would always be looking for opportunities to grow in my knowledge of God, learn to love Him more and find ways of serving him.
