Biographical note:

Mary Maria Andrews was born at Dry Plain Station (near Cooma, NSW) in 1915 to Albert and Ann Andrews. The family moved to Mittagong in 1925 then Sydney in 1927 for educational purposes following the separation of her parents. Mary was educated at Homebush Intermediate High School and later Hornsby Girls' High. She underwent training as a General Nurse at Gladesville Mental Hospital from 1933-1935, . studied at Sydney Missionary and Bible College from 1935-6 and was a resident at Deaconess house from 1937-8 at the recommendation of the Church Missionary Society of Australia (CMS), to which she had applied as a missionary to China in 1937.

Sailing to China in September 1938, she engaged in language learning at the College of Chinese Studies in Peiping (which was under Japanese occupation at the time) and later in Lin Hai, where she performed missionary work until she was forced to leave in late 1943 in fear of Japanese troops. She worked in Lahore, India, during 1944, and returned to Australia on furlough in 1946, during which time she was 'set apart' as a Deaconess. She returned to China in June 1947, working as a missionary in Shaohsing until she was forced to leave due to pressure from the Communist government in 1951.

Following her missionary career she continued to be heavily involved in CMS Candidates and General Committees and was a committed supporter of the South American Missionary Society (SAMS) and served on their Candidates and Pastoral Committee.

She began work as the Principal of Deaconess House in 1951, and was commissioned as Head Deaconess in the Diocese of Sydney in early 1952. As Principal, she oversaw a dramatic expansion of the institution in both physical size and occupancy. She held the position until her reluctant retirement in 1975. Many of the women who trained at Deaconess House continued to correspond with her, confide in her and shares the joys and trials of ministry with her until her life's end.

She then took on the role of part-time chaplain to three retirement villages - Goodwin Village, Woollahra (where she also resided); Elizabeth Lodge, Kings Cross, and St John's Village, Glebe. Not only did she conduct Bible studies and hold devotional meetings with the residents but she also encouraged them to give generously to missions, other Christian work and organisations for the aged. Additionally, she increased her involvement in a number of ecumenical and women's associations and was a fixture at these for the remainder of her life. Material found in her papers suggests that she supported the Healing Ministry at St Andrews Cathedral, Basilea Schlink of Darmstadt and that she attended the Billy Graham Crusade in 1979.

In 1980 she was made a Member of the Order of Australia (AM) for her Services to Religion.

Mary Andrews throughout her career and ministry was a strong proponent of greater inclusion of women into church life. She was actively involved in the events leading up to a number of milestones, including an increased prominence of the Deaconess order, the inclusion of women in the Anglican synod, and the ordination of women as Anglican Deacons. Late in her life she was fiercely in favour of the ordination of women as priests, and was a member of the Movement for the Ordination of Women (MOW).

She had a healthy interest in a wide range of Christian beliefs and recorded broadcast interviews of Christians from Roman Catholic, Anglican, Pentecostal, and various other Christian denominations from Australia and abroad.

Recreationally she enjoyed traditional hymns, English Cathedral music and when time permitted attended performing arts particularly 'classical' music. In fact she entered into correspondence occasionally regarding the programs of concerts and the choice of operas if she thought they were unsuitable. She also had a life-long interest in photography and left behind an exhaustive documentation of the work of Deaconess House, the organisations that she was involved with, her many overseas trips, significant occasions in the ministry of former students and friends and of women's ministry in general.

She died on the 16th of October 1996, a few weeks after the 50th anniversary of her 'setting apart' as a Deaconess.

DESCRIPTION AREA

Start date: in year of 1891

End date: in year of 2011

Administrative history note: Inaugurated in 1891 in St Marys, Balmain. The name 'Bethany' was used in the early years but the official title was approximately The Church of England Deaconess Institution Sydney Limited.

Incorporated as Anglican Deaconess Institution Limited (ADSIL) in 1996. the Institution adopted a CEO and a more corporate and independent constitution in 2008, and was renamed Anglican Deaconess Ministries Limited in 2011.

Creation: Effectively founded by Rev (later Canon) Mervyn Archdall, Rector at St Marys Balmain, in 1881.

Mandate(s)/Source(s) of authority: The Sydney Diocesan Synod passed a resolution in favour of Deaconess ministries in 1885.

Modelled on the Deaconess's Institute of Kaiserwerth in Dusseldorf, and its branch organisation in Dresden.

Abolition:

Geographical areas: Based primarily in Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. Deaconess House's main hall location is in Carillon Avenue, Newtown. The Home of Peace hospitals are located in several campuses in central and northeastern Sydney. 'Hillsyde' is located in Camden (NSW). The Deaconess Institution Administration was based in 'Eversleigh' Hospital (Petersham) from 1988 until at least 1997.

Legal status: ?(1891-1996). Public company limited by guarantee (1996-)

Functions and activities: DEACONESS HOUSE: A residential hall and training institution for female ministry trainees. 'Bethany', the original residence, was opened in 1891 in the parish of St Mary, Balmain - partly funded by rector Rev Mervyn Archdoll and Mrs

Archdoll. An unknown period of time was spent at rented premises in Queen St (Newtown), with the permanent site in Carillon Avenue being purchased in 1913. The building on this site was dedicated in 1916. Neighbouring properties were purchased in 1954 to make room for a dramatic increase in enrollments, with major expansions occurring in 1961 and 1966 (when the Mary Andrews wing was opened). Braeside Hospital (see below) was repurposed as a secondary Stanmore campus in 1994. Renamed Mary Andrews College in 1997. In 2009, Mary Andrews College was moved to St Andrew's House, Sydney.

Trainee numbers at the time 'Bethany' opened are unknown. There were around 16 residents in 1947, 32 in 1954, and 58 in 1961, with numbers stable around 60 students throughout the 1960s.

In addition to communal Christian living and trainee placements at Anglican parishes, residents were involved in mission outreach events, in-house seminars, and training courses (at different points in the institution's history) through Sydney Teacher's College, The Australian College of Theology, and Moore Theological College.

Graduates of Deaconess House were often 'set apart' as Deaconesses ('ordained' after the Order was given formal recognition in 1969), and where possible took on staff positions doing women's ministry in Anglican parishes. Others became missionaries, clergy wives or administrators. In 1989 it became possible to ordain women as Deacons in the Anglican Diocese of Sydney, and a number of Deaconess House graduates were ordained immediately.

HOME OF PEACE HOSPITALS: The original Home of Peace for the Dying, a six-bed cottage, was established in 1907 as a palliative care hospital under the Deaconess Institution. It was named 'Eversleigh' and upgraded to around 92 beds at an unknown point before 1947. A second location ('Neringah', in the North Shore region) was opened in 1957, at which point they came to be known collectively as the Home of Peace Hospitals. Greenwich Hospital was added in 1966, and Graythwaite Nursing Home was opened in 1985 - though with limited functionality due to blanket conservation orders on the old buildings. They were renamed the "Hope Healthcare Group" in 1994. Construction of a new Braeside Hospital in Prairiewood began in 1995. 'Eversleigh' closed in 1997 due to a restructuring of the Central Health Area Service. The Hope Healthcare Group was sold to Hammondcare in 2008.

BRAESIDE CHURCH OF ENGLAND HOSPITAL: Originally purchased in 1946 with the intention of converting the building into a hostel, it instead remained open as a 30-bed local hospital and nurse training school at the request of the community and local government. It became a Maternity hospital circa 1951, and was then converted to a Geriatric hospital in 1964. Closed in 1992, the building was then reassigned to Deaconess House in 1994 to act as their secondary campus.

PALLISTER GIRLS' HOME: A residential home for girls who could not be fostered elsewhere, sometimes as an alternative to prosecution. Originally founded as the "Training School and Residence for the Education of Protestant Female Servants" in 1870 by one Captain David Scott, it was taken over by 'Bethany' (who had just opened a children's home in Ashfield) in 1893, and the two were merged in 1984 under the name "Deaconess Children's Home and Lisgar". A new building was purchased in 1929, and the decision to focus particularly on problem and vulnerable children was made in 1936 - along with a change in name to "Pallister Girls' Home (and Lisgar Trust)". Yet another new building was purchased in 1945, and in 1953 a hostel for young adult women under the 'Lisgar' name was added - but destroyed by fire in 1955. In 1977 it was placed under the control of the Hospitals of Peace board, and renamed the "Pallister Young People's Unit" - it is unclear whether the Home had gone co-ed by this point. A new 'Lisgar House' remained an independent ministry under the Deaconess Institution (see below). The Young People's Unit was finally transformed into the "Health Media and Education Centre" under government control in 1984, due to the youth work having moved to Chatswood Community Hospital.

LISGAR HOUSE: After the original Pallister residence for young women from troubled backgrounds burnt down in 1955, a replacement ('Lisgar House') was donated in 1959. It remained a separate entity when the core Pallister Girls' Home was merged with the Hospitals of Peace. The House was moved to the control of the Welfare Division of the Anglican Home Mission Society in 1986 due to concerns over the lack of staff expertise.

BETHANY HIGH SCHOOL, BALMAIN: Founded no later than 1896, divested before 1947. Very little information in our records.

'HILLSYDE': A vacation and rest home for elderly ladies in Camden (NSW), opened in 1978. There are some suggestions that it was originally intended as a retirement home for deaconesses. Closed in 2003, and the property sold in 2010.

BUT-HAR-GRA HOSTEL: Opened around 1943 under the control of Moore Theological College, this small residential hostel was held by the Deaconess Institution until the end of 1958, when it was returned to Moore.

NORBURY HOUSE: A small residence for active deaconesses purchased in the late 1950s, named after former Head Deaconess and Principal of Deaconess House Emily Norbury. The House was sold in 1968, and the proceeds used to fund the Deaconess House Library and the Emily Norbury Scholarship.

MINISTRY TO AND BY THE AGEING (TABA): The TABA committee was an awareness-raising ministry of the Deaconess Institution started in 1989 at the instigation of Mary Andrews. In addition to a central committee, they organised small regional groups to encourage local churches and other institutions to engage in ministry directed towards the elderly. Renamed Next Phase Ministries in 2011.

Internal structure(s):

The Deaconess Institution was run by a governing council, the president of which was the Archbishop of Sydney. From at least the mid 1940s the Council consisted of a Chairman, Trustees, Honourary Treasurer and Secretary, and sometimes a Chaplain in addition to regular Council Members. The Principals of Deaconess House (previously the Director) and the Girls' Home as well as a representative of the various Hospitals were normally council members - sometimes recognised separately from other councillors, sometimes not. The Head Deaconess also had a spot on the council whenever the Head Deaconess was not the same person as the Principal of Deaconess House. Additionally, the major ministries under the Deaconess Institution had their own administrative councils and committees of varying sizes - for example, the 1947 Deaconess House Council had 25 members, as did the Homes of Peace Committee, whereas the Pallister Girls' Home and Braeside Hospital Committees had 10 each.

The Institution employed an Administrative Officer from at least 1988.

General context:

The Sydney Diocesan Synod passed a resolution in favour of Deaconess ministries in 1885. The Deaconess Institution was nominally independent of the Diocese of Sydney, and in practice at least somewhat independent - though the Archbishop of Sydney was President of the Institution until at least 1996 (possibly until 2008). The management of Deaconess House, in particular, retained levels of independence according to the temperament of its Principals; complicated by the close connections to and partial dependence on Moore Theological College for theological training, and by the overlap between the roles of Principal and Head Deaconess (frequently, though not always, vested in the same person).

Administrative history note: Mary Andrews was commissioned Head Deaconess on 24 March 1952. As Head Deaconess she was responsible for recommending candidates to be set apart as Deaconesses and for the making appointments of Deaconess as vacancies arose. She also dealt with administrative and policy issues relating to deaconesses in the Diocese of Sydney. The Head Deaconess also occupied an ex-officio role on the Deaconess Appointments Board. The Board was dissolved on its own recommendation on or soon after 14 December 1978 and the then Co-Adjutor Bishop took over the function of the Board in addition to his existing responsibility for the placement of Curates and Youth Workers. In Deaconess appointment he was assisted by Deaconesses Mary Andrews (Head Deaconess) and Margaret Rodgers (Principal, Deaconess House). From her commissioning until her retirement at the end of 1975 Mary Andrews also held the position of Principal of Deaconess House.

She continued as Head Deaconess until dd/mm/1982.

Series number: 1

Series title: Personal Letters Received

Start date: ? 1930

End date: in year of 1996

Level of description: Series

Format: Loose papers

Extent and medium of series:

Name of unregistered creator(s):

Archival history:

Immediate source:

Contents start date: 1961

Contents end date: ar of 1996

Descriptive note: The series consists primarily of private letters written to Dss Andrews by current and former students, and others in Christian work. The letters from former students detail their work in parishes and other fields of service, and share problems and troubles that they are experiencing, and decisions to move on or to seek other opportunities. They also cover personal interests and updates concerning their families. The letters are evidence of the nurturing relationship the Dss developed with her students, who continued to seek her guidance throughout their careers. The personal nature of Dss Andrews' relationships with her former students is further evidenced in that many letters are signed with Christian names only (in retrospect, this often causes problems in the identification of the correspondents).

The series also contains invitations to and acknowledgements of the Deaconess' speaking at conferences, parish activities and similar engagements, and discussions of her travels. It appears that the Deaconess' own return letters have not survived, though in some cases early drafts have been preserved among her writings (see Series 3).

The following material has been destroyed:

- * Duplicates
 - * Receipts
 - * Routine mail-outs and other unsolicited mail
 - * Routine travel documentation
 - * Greeting cards except for those that contain further information about the sender and their relationship with the Dss
- Envelopes have been discarded except for when they contain contextual information not duplicated in the body of the letter

Some material found with this series has been made into separate series, including:

- * Newsletters received (except for instances where a personal letter was appended to the newsletter)
- * Writings of Mary Andrews
- * Official Records of Deaconess House
- * Official records of the Head Deaconess
- * Publications received
- * News clippings
- * Official letters (including letters pertaining to various organisations of which she was a member or interested party)
- * Letters addressed to persons other than Mary Andrews

A note on arrangement:

The series was amongst several transferred from the Deaconess Institute to the Samuel Marsden Library (Date???). It is understood that some of the papers were re-arranged by the Andrews family prior to transfer to the Institute. They were re-boxed by Debra Leigo (Archives Consultant) in 2011, and this series was spread over several boxes. The Archivists in 2014 made the decision that the most likely original intended arrangement was chronological (indeed fragments of this arrangement survive), and they were subsequently re-sorted by decade. Many are undated or partially dated. Approximate dates were estimated based on stationery, writing implements, physical context and the identity of the author.

Descriptive note: The majority of these diaries date from the period during which Mary Andrews was the Principal of Deaconess House (viz 1951-1975), and from her retirement until her death in 1996.

The content varies considerably - from brief notes relating to speaking engagements and other appointments, and lists of those for whom she had prayed on particular days, to detailed descriptions of her thoughts, interviews, and experiences when travelling. Many of the diaries indicate a combination of professional and personal events. Most diaries include notes at the beginning which could have been Mary's devotional, notes for an address, or those made from a sermon heard.

Physically the series varies from pocket diaries to larger format diaries and includes notebooks. For some years Mary maintained a pocket diary that recorded appointments and a more complete diary with details of her activities, thoughts and prayers.

Some of the smaller diaries have been tied into bundles to facilitate ordering.

The following have been removed from this series as previously sorted:

- * Official diaries/appointment books in regard to her roles as Principal of Deaconess House and Head Deaconess.
- * Notebooks containing addresses prepared [now part of Writings of Mary Andrews, Series No. 3]

In a number of cases it has been clear that the diary has been used several years after its official dates. It is possible that there are instances of this that have not been clear to the registrar.

Letters, cards, business cards and loose notes have been left where found in the diaries for provenance purposes.

Related booklets containing lists of contacts follow at the end of this series

It is unclear whether Series 2 / Item 36 is a diary or a reminiscence.

This series should be used in conjunction with Series 12 Draft Autobiography and related papers possibly compiled during Mary Andrews' years at Deaconess House.

Descriptive note: This series contains material written by Mary Andrews, including both handwritten and printed materials but excluding her diaries (see Series 2), notes and correspondence pertaining to her biography "Going it Alone" and other autobiographical material (see series ??), correspondence and draft correspondence (series 4), and personal newsletters (series 5-6).

The series includes first drafts of articles and addresses, completed short publications, fragmentary notes (names and contact details etc.), notes on sermons and addresses she had attended, annotated texts of varying length, and drafts of Deaconess House monthly reports.

The content of this series was separated in part from Mary's collection of personal letters received (see Series 1), and was otherwise collected piecemeal from miscellaneous unsorted paperwork distributed haphazardly throughout the collection. It is unknown if there was any original intended order to these latter papers (though it seems unlikely) or if the arrangement was an arbitrary decision by Archives Consultant Debra Leigo, who supervised the re-boxing of the collection in 2011.

The frequent absence of contextual information makes chronological arrangement of large portions of this series impractical.

Format: Loose papers

Extent and medium of series:

Name of unregistered creator(s):

Contents start date: de of 1930

Contents end date: by 1996

Descriptive note: This series contains letters written by Mary Andrews, some of which are drafts and some of which are letters which had been posted but which were returned to Mary at a later date. In some cases, letters were preserved for Mary's benefit at her explicit request in the body of the letter - for example, in the case of personal letters which doubled as travel memoirs.

The series includes letters sent to CMS during Deaconess Andrews' time on the mission field (with the exception of circular newsletters and submissions to The Round World magazine, which have been included in Series 5), drafts of letters to bishops and other ecclesiastical figures, drafts of letters to the editors of publications, personal letters (and drafts thereof) including letters to relatives, and informal notes left around Deaconess House or (later) the Retirement Villages.

The letters have been arranged in chronological order, with some approximation. Letters with insufficient contextual information for a definite date have been grouped together at the end of the series.

The content of this series was separated in part from Mary's collection of personal letters received (see Series 1), and was otherwise collected piecemeal from miscellaneous unsorted paperwork distributed haphazardly throughout the collection. It is unknown if there was any original intended order to these latter papers (though it seems unlikely) or if the arrangement was an arbitrary decision by Archives Consultant Debra Leigo, who supervised the re-boxing of the collection in 2011.

Descriptive note: This series contains prayer letters sent by Mary Andrews to CMS to be distributed to supporters, written between 1947 and 1951 during her time in China; and also letters and drafts of letters written for publication in the CMS "Round World" magazine, with an intended audience of children.

These letters are intended for a praying audience, and contain particulars of Mary Andrews' life and ministry in China as well as devotional commentary and descriptions of her state of mind, health, encouragement, and other concerns.

The prayer-letters in this series had been previously set apart and placed in acid-free folders. New series numbers have since been added and fasteners replaced with plastic paper-clips, but no other changes have been made.

The published versions of some of the "The Round World" articles have been placed in series 13.

This series was originally combined with Series 6.

Descriptive note: This series contains newsletters sent by Mary Andrews to friends and supporters. Until 1975, these were distributed under the title of "The Church of England Deaconess Institution Prayer Fellowship Letter". In 1976 the title becomes "News Letter", reflecting Dss Andrews' retirement and roles in other organisations. From 1982 onwards, the title is "The Anglican Deaconess Institution Prayer Fellowship Letter" following a decision by the Deaconess Council to revive the earlier newsletter - aside from a small number in 1982 under the banner of The Anglican Fellowship of Prayer.

The newsletters contain homilies or spiritual insights from Dss Andrews, news relevant to the Deaconess institution (and other organisations, following Dss Andrews' retirement), personal news and travel reports. Dates and times for events related to the Deaconess Association (and others) are also listed, as are prayer requests and brief news from other members of the Association. Occasional attachments such as invitations to Deaconess House graduations are also included.

Newsletters were published once every 2-3 months in the 1950s, 60s, and early 70s; yearly from 1975; then once every three months from 1982.

This series had been previously set apart and placed in acid-free folders. New series numbers have since been added and fasteners replaced with plastic paper-clips, and duplicates have been discarded, but no other changes have been made.

This series was originally combined with Series 5.

Descriptive note: United Church Women of Australia (UCWA) was formed at a meeting of the Australian Council of Churches (ACC) on 4 October 1962. UCWA comprised of representatives from the Federal Denominational Women's Organisations, State Women's Inter-Church Councils, Australian Council of Churches Committee on Women's Work and State Committees for Women's World Day of Prayer. Representatives were appointed approximately equally from office-bearers of the existing organisations and other people appointed for their abilities as Christian leaders. UCWA was affiliated with the Australian Council of Churches to assist in the establishment of links with similar organisations internationally. An Interim Committee was formed to recommend a structure for the ongoing organisation. The Committee recommended that a National Committee be formed together with state and local Committees. The National Committee included six women resident in Sydney who would form the Executive. At the Annual Meeting of the Australian Council of Churches in February 1963 the establishment of Australian Church Women (ACW) was authorised.

At the Annual General Meeting of the ACC in 1964 the recommendation of a consultation held in Sydney in March of that year received 'general approval'. The recommendations covered the aims of ACW, its federal structure and its structure within the ACC.

The aims were

- * To unite Australian Church Women in their allegiance to their Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ;
- * to provide opportunities for Christian worship, study, fellowship and service across denomination divisions;

- * to promote co-operation of men and women in the church, family and society;
- * to help Christian women to take a more effective place in the total life and mission of the church; and
- * to unite them through the Fellowship of the Least Coin with Christian women of all countries.

There was a National Committee that met at least annually, an Executive that met monthly and a Working Committee. The Working Committee consisted of members resident within one state and included all of the office-bearers viz - President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary and Treasurer. Of the undesignated members of the Working Committee one was the of the Winifred Kiek Scholarship Committee. The working committee dealt in particular with ACW activities including the world community day and relationships with the Fellowship of the Least Coin.

The Winifred Kiek scholarship was awarded annually from 1965. Rev. Winifred Kiek was ordained as a Congregational Church Minister in 1927 and was commemorated for her work as an ordained female minister and within the Australian Council of Churches where she encouraged ministry to women. A sub-committee of ACW was formed to deal with the applications, to recommend candidates for the award and to make arrangements for the applicants when in Australia. The scholarship was available to young Christian Women from developing countries and enabled the to study and gain professional experience in Australia in addition to participating in women's' Christian groups . The papers relating to the Winifred Kiek Scholarship contained in this collection include Sub-Committee correspondence (Mary Andrews was the Convenor of the Committee for many years) occasional reports, printed material including leaflets concerning scholarship holders and their schedules while in Australia, and publicity fro the project.

Two major annual activities were World Community Day and Fellowship Day. It seems that orders of service were produced centrally for use and adaptation in the various state units and local branches. The records of these in this collection include, fliers and other publicity and orders of service.

The revised Constitution of 1985 allowed for a biennial National Conference which was held in conjunction with the National Committee meetings. The earliest records of National Conferences date from 1985.

There was a new Constitution in 1988

Newsletters were issued to members commencing in August 1964. Initially these appeared to be irregular but by 1976 they were issued monthly. By April 1970 the Newsletters were known as 'Women at Work' . From October 1985 the Newsletter was known as ACW News. The Newsletters emanated from the Branch where the Executive at the time was situated although mist issues contained. Many issue have been lost.

The State Units pre-dated the federal organisation. The NSW Branch held its inaugural meeting on 18 November 1938 and the Victorian Branch was established by the adoption of its constitution on 13 June 1941.

The records that comprise this series are not the official archives of Australian Church Women, but those that were held by Mary Andrews. There are some gaps that might indicate the periods of greatest involvement in ACW or normal accidents of recordkeeping. The series comprises both the records that have survived from the Federal organisations and the State Units and occasionally local branches. Most of the surviving brach records enanated from NSW.

There are cassette tapes of various activities between 1975 and 1988 that are for in Series 29/2

Descriptive note: The National Council of Women of New South Wales was established at a meeting held on 26 June 1896. The objects of the Council were to promote:

- * Sympathy of thought and purpose among the people of New South Wales
- * The social, civil, moral and religious welfare of the community
- * such conditions of life as will assure to every child an opportunity for full and free development; and to form a link with National Councils of Women in other countries through the National Council of Women of Australia and the International Council of Women.

Members of the Council included both organisations committed to improving the status of women and their families and individual members.

Both at the state and federal levels there were standing Committee for many issues relating to women including the arts, children and families, education, environment, health, housing, international relations and peace, laws and suffrage, the media, migration, social welfare and employment

Councils were established in other states of Australia and in 1931 the National Council of Women of Australia was established and the state organisations were affiliated with it. The NCWA is affiliated with the International Council of Women. The National Council of Women of Australia was incorporated on 28 November 1988.

Triennial Conferences were held for some years. There are full records of the Conference for 1973-76.

The Deaconess Institute was a member of the Council and Mary Andrews was associated with the Council since 1976 And served on the Executive at least in the following years 1976-7, 1982, 1984, 1987 and 1991.

Descriptive note: The Women's World Day of Prayer originated in the US after the Civil War, starting in 1887 as a day of prayer for home missions and taking its approximate modern form in 1920. Traditionally held on the first Friday in March, the Day proper consists of a worldwide day of ecumenical affirmation and prayer along with the conduction of specially-pepared services (these services were often developed by a single national committee for use worldwide).

National and regional committees were responsible for the preparation and distribution of WWDoP materials. Mary Andrews served as National Liason Officer from 1978 to 1984(approx.) and was designated as Regional Representative on the International Executive from 1982. She was a member of the NSW state committee from 1977 (or earlier) untill her death. She was also Secretary of the National Executive Committee circa 1985.

The 1986 World Day of Prayer was held in Australia, and this series includes some preparatory materials.

Two caseette recordings made by Mary Andrews at the World Day of Prayer in Zambia in 1978 are held in series 29/3

Descriptive note: Mary had a strong sense of her role in history. Following her return from China her roles as Principal of Deaconess House and as Head Deaconess saw her taking a unique position in women's ministry, she was tireless at taking every opportunity to address church groups of various kinds on her twin loves as missionary work in China and women's ministry; she kept copious diaries.[See Series 2, 1932-1996] She played a major role in many organisations developed to foster women's ministry and she was a figure in some secular organisations. This sense of being chosen led to her prepare an autobiography. The manuscript was offered to Anzea Publications but on 1 March 1975 the Manager advised that no-one was available to edit the manuscript for publication. It is unknown whether she offered it to other publishers.

The original order of the manuscripts in this series is unclear. There is one major sequence of 88 pages but many drafts particularly of her period in China. The major section was originally in a folder with several other sections. The page numbering was not helpful in determining the order so this material has been treated as one item. Other sequences were identified separately and each sequence has been considered separate item.

It is possible that she prepared more than one draft. And also likely the various drafts on her period in China were used as source material by Margaret Yarwood Lamb whose partial biography 'Going it Alone: Mary Andrews - missionary to China 1938 to 1951' published by Aquila Press in 1995 is confined to Mary's formative years and missionary service.

This series also includes material that appears to have been collected for the purposes of a biography - letters, reports, short histories. This material includes letters to family members and circulars for the mission field; her license to serve as a female Deacon in Shaohsing-Chekiang, March 1948; newsclippings.

Contents end date: th of 1996

Descriptive note: This series contains correspondence, meeting minutes, and other records relating to the three missionary organisations with which Mary Andrews was most closely connected: The Church Missionary Society of Australia (CMS), CMS-UK, and the South American Missionary Service (SAMS).

Mary Andrews was a missionary with CMS from 1938-1951, working primarily in China but with a short role in India. She had a secondment agreement of sorts with CMS-UK, with which she was in regular contact while in the field. Following her return to Australia, she made inquiries with CMS-UK regarding the possibility of missionary work with them in South-East Asia. After this failed to eventuate, she remained in casual correspondence with staff at CMS-UK for some time. In addition to the paper records in this series there are two cassette recordings viz: CMS Prayer Weekend 1981 (Rev R.A. Cole) and CMS Summer School 1982 Dr and Mrs Coleman. These may be located in Series 29/4

Due to her position as Principal of Deaconess House (and missionary experience), Mary was part of the CMS Candidates Committee, Training Committee, and General Committee. As a number of single female missionaries and missionary wives were trained at Deaconess House, Mary was responsible for providing candidate evaluation reports and occasionally conducted interviews with prospective missionaries (including missionary couples) on behalf of the Candidates Committee. She also regularly attended meetings of the above and made a number of recommendations on training policy.

Mary ceased being a member of the Candidates Committee in 1976, following her retirement. She then resigned from the General Committee in 1987. Return correspondence suggests that she was dissatisfied with what she perceived as the narrow roles that CMS would allow female missionaries to fill.

SAMS was founded in 1844 as a missionary society focused on evangelising Latin America. Mary Andrews served on their Candidates Committee and NSW General Committee from 1975 (at the latest; possibly as early as 1965) until her death in 1996. She also engaged in friendly correspondence with a number of SAMS missionaries and home staff.

Descriptive note: The series comprises original documents and copies of material possibly gathered for Mary Andrew's planned autobiography that was never published, the partial biography written by Margaret Yarwood Lamb and may be used for future biographical purposes. In addition to official documentation such as birth certificate, visas, passports, the series includes charitable donations, family history, school reunion, details of travels, response to her Member of the Order of Australia award.

A note concerning Item 31 of this series. It appears that soon after returning to Australia from Missionary service Mary Andrews commenced preparing lists with brief descriptions of the major events and achievements in her life including overseas travel and lists of positions held were appended. . These seems to have been updated regularly although the date of composition is not recorded prior to 1979. From March 1979 they were known as Bio Data. It is assumed that these were prepared for occasions when background information was required and as source material for biographers and journalists..

Some routine material has been culled. Some however has been retained (such as travel documents) as this has been used to date some of Mary's writings.

The routine material (tickets, boarding passes, drafts have been removed from the travel records.

Descriptive note: Mary Andrews naturally took a greater interest in care for the elderly following her own retirement in 1975. From that point until her death in 1996 she lived at the Goodwin Village, a holding of the Anglican Retirement Villages, and acted as chaplain. In addition to running occasional church and prayer services, she also wrote a column for the monthly Village newsletter and visited other ARV residences. In 1995, a new ARV residence was named the Mary Andrews Village in her honour.

A cassette of the meeting of Community of Christian Care 28 March 1976 is at Series 29/6

Descriptive note: This series contains records relating to organisations that Mary Andrews was interested in or had some relationship with in a professional or personal capacity. The majority are religious organisations, with some exceptions.

Of particular significance:

The Diocese of Sydney: In her roles as Principal of Deaconess House and as Head Deaconess, Mary Andrews came under the authority of and had frequent correspondence with the Archbishop of Sydney. Following her retirement (with accommodation and employment partially arranged by the Diocese), Mary was elected as Synod representative from her local Parish on a number of occasions and took a particular interest in Synod votes on the topics of women's ministry, lay presidency, and aged care.

The Anglican Fellowship of Prayer: After taking a keen interest in the Fellowship over a number of years (including several international conference trips in her role of local coordinator), Mary was designated as the Province Representative for the Anglican Church of Australia in 1981. There is a cassette recording from this meeting available in Series 29/5

The Order of Australia Association: Mary joined the Association shortly after it was founded in 1980. Activities consisted mostly of annual dinners, with occasional tours of regions Australia of historical or cultural importance. Mary obtained a life membership in 1984.

Descriptive note: These letters and invitations are from the Archbishop and other Diocesan officials, the Governor and NSW Government and sundry other correspondents.

The letters include invitations to meetings and State and Diocesan social functions, acknowledgements of hospitality. Responses to letters she had sent, opinions that she made known, comments she had made and articles submitted for publication

Many letters and invitations were sent in regard to Ms Andrews capacities as Principal of Deaconess House and Head Deaconess others because she was a well know personality.

These letters contrast with personal letters received in that the items are matters of business and there is no evidence of a personal relationship between the contributors although some of the correspondents were well known to Mary.

Descriptive note: This series consists of orders of service and other papers for occasions when Mary Andrews had spoken or on occasions preached, and letters of acknowledgement sent following her visits. The series demonstrates two important features of Mary Andrew's mission .

- (a) Spreading her passion for Christian work in China
- (b) Encouraging interest and commitment to women's ministry including the work of Deaconess House and of Parish Sisters and sundry organisations committed to the ministry of women.

It would appear that the extant material is a small portion of Mary's ministry of accepting invitations to speak wherever possible.

The series does not contain the text of papers delivered by the Deaconess. These may be found in Series 3 2/1-2 and 7/1-3.

There are also references in Series 1 - Personal Letters Received where correspondents comment on Mary's visits and addresses.

Descriptive note: The series consists of Mary Andrews' copies of newsletters received from former students and other Christian contacts of Mary Andrews. The letters from those in missionary work, parish appointments mainly within Australia, and in other Christian work particularly in Asia. Most letters are from individuals some are from organisations.

The series has been retained to indicate the wide influence of graduates of Deaconess House as they took on positions throughout the world; and similarly to show the wide range of contacts that Mary Andrews had made through her work in numerous organisations and attendance at conferences throughout the world.

Many of the letters are undated or the dates have been obscured. An attempt has been made to estimate these dates.

This series contrasts with Series 1 that consists of private letters to Mary Andrews

Series title: Press Clippings Relating to Mary Andrews

Start date: 1946

Level of description: Series

Format: Loose papers

Extent and medium of series:

Name of unregistered creator(s):

Archival history:

Immediate source:

Contents start date: 1946

Contents end date: ar of 1994

Descriptive note: This series consists of press clippings - from newspapers, magazines, and other publications - that either refer to Mary Andrews by name or feature her photograph, but which were not authored in their entirety by Mary herself.

Early clippings relate primarily to Deaconess Andrews' missionary work, including articles pertaining to her role in the survival of American airmen shot down over China in World War 2. During the period in which she was headmistress of Deaconess House, the clippings naturally relate mainly to the role in and expansion of that institution, though there begins to be a small number of articles in which she is asked to comment on the role of women in the Anglican Church. These increase in number following her retirement; along with articles relating to her travel reports, obituary comments on Anglican and other figures she knew personally, and reports of her speaking engagements. Receiving the Order of Australia in 1980 was a particularly proud occasion for Mary Andrews, and she preserved a range of press reports of the event. She kept a similar collection of congratulations (mainly from Christian organisations and the retirement home she lived and ministered in) following her inclusion of the International Biographical Centre's "Women of the Year" publication.

The majority of papers in this series were collected by Mary Andrews herself, but a small number show signs of having being forwarded to her by friends. In most cases the articles have been cut out with scissors, and an attempt has been made to preserve the header to show which publication they originated in. In some instances - but not all - this has also resulted in the preservation of evidence of the original date of publication. Some articles were previously attached to a paper backing with mounting putty [Blu-tack]. This has been removed in most cases - where removal was possible without damaging the article - and the dried putty remnants disposed of along with the backing-paper.

A large number of duplicates in this series have been disposed of. Priority has been given to copies in better states of preservation or which retain additional contextual information.

No obituaries of Deaconess Andrews are kept in this series, as it consists only of papers collected by Mary herself.

Contents end date: de of 1996

Descriptive note: This series consists of press clippings - from newspapers, magazines, and other publications - that pertain to topics with which Mary Andrews had a particular connection. A large number of clippings deemed to be of insufficient interest have been disposed of (see below).

Preserved items in this series relate to the work of the Deaconess Institution, and to the topic of the role of women in the church - particularly the Anglican Church of Australia.

Articles on the Deaconess Institution describe activities in Deaconess House (excluding articles which refer to Mary herself in her capacity as principal or in citation, which are included in Series 21), ancilliary activities of the Institution such as the hospitals, the ordination of deaconesses, and the activities of Deaconess House graduates and other deaconesses in Australia and worldwide.

Additionally, Mary Andrews kept a small collection of articles relating to former Deaconess House trainee Miss (later Dr) Barbara Ferguson, who went on to do missionary work in Vietnam.

The articles on the role of women in the church cover historical milestones including the reestablishment of the Order of Deaconesses, the admission of women to the Anglican Synod, the ordination of women as Deacons, and the ordination of women as Priests in various parts of Australia and worldwide, along with reports on the controversial nature and debates surrounding the events. Articles on the role played by women in church organisations belonging to other denominations are also included. Note: articles relating directly to the Movement for the Ordination of Women have been included in Series 8.

The majority of papers in this series were collected by Mary Andrews herself, but a small number show signs of having being forwarded to her by friends. In most cases the articles have been cut out with scissors, and an attempt has been made to preserve the header to show which publication they originated in. In some instances - but not all - this has also resulted in the preservation of evidence of the original date of publication. Some articles were previously attached to a paper backing with mounting putty [Blu-tack]. This has been removed in most cases - where removal was possible without damaging the article - and the dried putty remnants disposed of along with the backing-paper.

A large number of clippings preserved by Mary Andrews have been disposed of on the grounds that their content was well-documented elsewhere and/or not within the scope of this collection. Topics included:

*China - particularly reports regarding the Three Self Patriotic Movement (the authorised Christian church in China), but also a large number of articles reporting on the aftermath of the Tiananmen Square protests of 1989.

*The Anglican Church, particularly the activities of clergy within the Diocese of Sydney, including obituaries (note that all articles regarding the role of women within the Anglican Church have been preserved).

*Activities - particularly ecumenical ones - of other Christian denominations (similarly, articles relating to women's ministry in other Christian denominations have also been preserved).

*Aged care and healthy living.

*General women's interest.

*Annual Honours listings and reports on other Members of the Order of Australia.

*The coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, royal visits to Australia, and the activities of Governors-General of Australia, state Governors, and their wives.

Articles pertaining to organisations with which Deaconess Andrews was affiliated have been inserted in the relevant Series pertaining to that organisation.

Additionally, duplicates in this series have been disposed of. Priority has been given to copies in better states of preservation or which retain additional contextual information.

Descriptive note: This series contains short publications, articles, and coursework material - mostly theological - on a range of topics of interest to Mary Andrews. Some of them were originally separated and presented as coherent courses of study, but others have been compiled from disparate corners of the collection during the sorting phase.

*Ordination of Women Background Material: Theological and sociological articles and reports, along with some pertinent news stories, debating the propriety of including women in ordained ministry.

*Christian Counselling Correspondence Course: Run by the Christian Counselling Institute, taking the form of loose papers divided into ten lessons by blue separators. Mary Andrews may have taken this course in 1970 (according to the date on the attached cover letter) or examined it for potential use in the Deaconess House. Deaconess Andrews extended the Deaconess House curriculum to include lectures in counselling from government departments and Sydney University staff following a trip to the UK in 1958-9 in which she researched training methods.

*Reports on Ministry and Missiology: Booklets and single articles from a variety of sources, many of them ecumenical. Some of these were most likely received as readings to inform the topics of discussion at conferences attended by Deaconess Andrews run by the World Council of Churches, Church Women United, and other similar organisations. Contents include sociological, theological and creative analyses of world evangelisation.

*Short Guides: Short articles from a wide range of sources that contain concrete guides for the content of prayer or preaching.

Immediate source: From Graham Andrews' collection of Mary Andrews papers and memorabilia, donated to the archive in November 2014.

Contents start date: 1945

Contents end date: c. 1996

Descriptive note: This series contains letters and cards received by Mary Andrews from family members, principally after her return from missionary service in China and throughout the rest of her life. It does not include correspondence from her mother.

Mary Andrews was a diligent correspondent, and appears to have been in regular contact by mail with her extended family throughout her time as Principal of Deaconess House and during her retirement.

Frequently featured in this series are the following writers:

*Florence ("Florrie") McGoffick (nee Andrews), Mary's sister.

Anne [later Lathrop, see note below] and Maryanne [married surname unknown], daughters of Florence and Jim McGoffick

*Elizabeth Clarkson (nee Andrews), Mary's sister (Married to Neal).

*Dorothea ("Dot") ?Glaston [spelling uncertain] [nee Andrews], Mary's sister

*Sam Andrews, Mary's brother

Roslyn [later Tufrey, married to Brian] and Carol Andrews, daughters of Sam and Joyce Andrews

Graham Andrews (married to Vickie), son of Sam Andrews and Joyce Andrews

Some identities are unclear:

- Elizabeth Clarkson appears to have gone by the name of "Lil" or "Lilian" at one point but was inconsistent in her insistence on its usage (signatures alternate between the two names even when the letters in question were sent in close proximity to each other. One letter dated 26/5/1960 is signed "Elizabeth" with "Lil" scratched out next to it).

-Anne McGoffick similarly seems to have on occasion spelt her name "Ann" (both she and her mother Florence use both spellings). From 1984 letters start arriving signed "Anni" Lathrop (married to Bill), and a 1996 letter from Florence seems to confirm that they are the same person.

-There is one letter, dated 1956, is addressed to "Aunty" from "John", a child resident of Glen Miln (then Florence McGoffick's residence). It is unclear whether "John" was a blood relative or had some other connection to the family and referred to Mary as "Aunty" as a term of affection.

In a number of cases these are letters where a copy has been sent to Mary Andrews for her information; others (including the papers of former fellow missionary in China Norah Dillon) pertain to individuals or subjects she was interested in.

In some cases the reason for these papers being in Mary Andrews' possession is entirely unclear.

Some eulogies and letters of condolence sent to Mary Andrews' relatives following her death have been removed.

Descriptive note: This series contains English-language Bibles - in various editions and translations - used by Mary Andrews. Bibles that have been retained are ones that contain clear signs of use as well as underlined passages and marginal annotations, and in some cases handwritten inserts.

Additionally, some Bibles have been preserved due to the historical interest of their provenance. Mary had possession of a Bible owned by former Archbishop of Sydney (and missionary to China) Mowll, presented to her as a keepsake after his death, as well as a New Testament commemorating the death of the late Archbishop's father. A nearly-pristine illustrated Bible presented to Mary before her departure on missionary service (but to all appearances not taken on that voyage and never used) has similarly been preserved.

Deaconess Andrews frequently left scraps of annotated paper, bookmarks and old envelopes inserted to mark places in the volumes, and these have been left in their original position where possible and desirable. While some of the inserts include annotations of particular relevance to the passage they mark, in many cases it is clear that they were used as bookmarks only with no relevance to the wider context.

A small number of Bibles has been disposed of due to a lack of historical interest - easily-obtainable translations with no features particular to Mary Andrews other than an occasional bookmark.

Chinese Bibles have not been included in this series, and neither have other religious texts (such as Prayer Books).

Contents start date: ar of 1938

Descriptive note: This series contains English-language books, mostly hardcovers, which were most likely used by Mary Andrews during her missionary service in China. It contains theological works, religious texts such as Prayer Books, nursing, pastoral and general advice texts, and a small amount of fiction and poetry.

It is impossible to determine definitively whether some of these texts were used on the mission field. Consideration has been given to the condition of the volumes (showing wear or water damage from travel), the context and topicality, and the publication date. Mary Andrews would later come into possession of tomes from the Deaconess House library, as well as texts inherited from various acquaintances and ecclesiastical figures, so an early publication date is not in itself conclusive evidence that any given volume ever travelled to China.

This series excludes texts in Chinese (including English-Chinese Bibles and phrasebooks), and Bibles (see series 26).

Descriptive note: Mary Andrews made and retained much audio visual material. She collected published material from various organisations and appears to have recorded addresses at services and meetings she attended. She recorded hymns and other sacred music and interviews from radio programs and she owned a range of commercial recordings acquired either by purchase and gift. The quality of the tapes is unknown.

The audio records that have been retained consist of meetings of organisations in which Mary was active, and of addresses in the main areas of her interest including the ministry of women. Some of these supplement the printed records held in this collection.

Commercial material and material recorded from radio programs (thus governed by complex intellectual property provisions) has been destroyed.

Tapes of services (mainly Healing Ministry) at St Andrews Cathedral have been transferred to Moore College Library.

Tapes of Verlag Evangelische Marienwesternschaff, Darmstadt-Eberstadt, (Basilea Schlink) Germany, mainly addressed by Basilea Schlink have been offered to Moore College Library.

The following have been retained.

- * Addresses and interviews by Mary Andrews (various media organisations)
- * General and Sydney Diocesan Synod debates mainly on the ordination of women,
- * Women's ordination services
- * Proceedings of meetings of the organisations (especially women's organisations) with which Mary was associated Cassettes comprising item 8 include the addresses by the following - Brother Andrew; Canon Jim Glennon; Bishop Fest Kivengere;; Dr Phillip Potter; Angnes Sanford; Dr Robert Schuller; Rev John Stott; Bishop Christopher Sponson; Re. David Watson; Women and Ministry (Brisbane October 1973) Holy Spirit Seminar 4 April 1981.

A note relating to the item list: The tapes are not individually listed. An 'item' consists of a group of related tapes e.g. the tapes relating to an organisation. Some tapes have been used for more than one purpose. They have been placed with the group that describes most of the content.

It would appear that some of the tapes were made by Dss Andrews (with our without permission of organisations or speakers) and that others were sold or distributed by the organisation concerned. In making access to this material decisions may need to be made on an individual basis.

Descriptive note: The series consists of letters received by Mary Andrews in her official capacity as Principal of Deaconess House. Some of the letters are addressed to 'Head Deaconess' an office that Mary Andrews held concurrently with the office of Principal and beyond her retirement. Selection of the letters in this series has been made on an individual basis based on the subject of the letter. Letters include matters to do with candidates, their placements, monetary donations.

The letters are placed in bundles according to decade. There is no precise sorting within the bundles. The papers have not been placed into acid free folders. No item listing has been made. Series numbers only are written on the folders. More detailed work needs to be performed at a later date.

Descriptive note: The Board of Studies was formed by a resolution of the Management Committee of Deaconess House on 8 August 1974 . The purpose of the board was to prepar a submission for the Australian College of Theology for a Diploma of Ministry. The Board comprised Rev S. Giltrap (Chairman), Deaconesses M. Andrews, J. Lawrence and M. Rodgers, Mrs I. Hall and Rev. G. Glassock. The members met Dr G.B. Knox and Dr W. Dumbrell to discuss matters that arose in conjunction with Mooore College. It appears that the role of the Board ceased after three meetings.

Contents end date: 1969

Descriptive note: The Committee was established by Synod resolution 10/1968 at the meetings in October 1968. The role of the Committee was " to Confer with the Council of the Deaconess Institution with regard to the implementations as set out in the Archbishop's Commission Report 1964 and report to Standing Committee before the next session of Synod." The Committee was chaired by Justice Athol Richardson. Members included the Head Deaconess and 9 other lay and Clerical members. It appears that the Committee first met on 24 February 1969. Key considerations were whether Deaconess House should be governed by an ordinance of Synod and whether it could benefit from a closer relationship with Moore Theological College. An information pack of 17 items was provided for members. The committee met several times during 1969 and suggested an expansion of the House Management Committee to include members elected by Synod and the Archbishop. There was no agreement between the Committee and Council and it was recommended that the discussions do not proceed.

It appears that this is Mary Andrews' copy of the Committee meetings and that the official records would be held by the Diocese of Sydney

Also a file that appears to be working papers for the same Committee. Contains many papers concerning Deaconess House and Women's Ministry including the role and curriculum of Deaconess House and statistical material concerning graduates.
