

AUSTRALIAN CHURCH WOMEN NSW STATE UNIT INC.

MINUTES OF COUNCIL MEETING on 10th floor 222 Pitt Street, Monday 18 August 2008, 10.30 a.m.

WELCOME: Mrs Jennifer Peffer welcomed everyone to the meeting, with special reference to Robyn Gaspari, Guest Speaker and Janet Kennet from Mayfield Branch.

Devotions based on James 2: 14-26 followed the opening prayer. Having read about faith and deeds we were asked to consider Growing in Faith and Social Issues, and how they relate to one another.

SPEAKER: Robyn Gaspari from Australian Women's Coalition and Eastwood Christian Community Aid spoke on a wide range of topics affecting women: care-giving to sufferers with HIV AIDS, national plan to combat violence against women, equal pay, sex discrimination, parental leave and productivity. Seventy national women's organisations and four secretariats met in discussions in Broken Hill. Women were asking the Australian government to sign the protocol calling for the elimination of all forms of violence against women where it is felt a fresh approach is needed. To make any progress it is vital to work with the male community. The White Ribbon Campaign will see police in various States taking part, a sign of change. The campaign is also selecting young men as ambassadors to speak against family violence. Statistics on violence demonstrate that women are more likely to suffer than males.

Inequities of pay still exist and this has a direct effect on superannuation. Many grandparents are involved as carers, but there are overseas models which show countries directing a given proportion of taxation to support child care until school age is reached. Currently there is a review of the tax system and it has been pointed out that single pensioners are disadvantaged.

Late last year a number of ACW members took part in a survey on ageing and social inclusion. This survey confirms that many lonely people cannot access the support that is available to them. The need for healthy ageing through exercise, good food and medical check ups was emphasised, as was the release of acute beds by the provision of rehabilitation places for older people, suggesting that purpose built facilities could provide respite beds available on a short term basis.

Sr Joan Bird thanked Robyn for her informative talk.

PRESENT: 41 as recorded.                      APOLOGIES: 10 as recorded.
