[illegible]

A detail from a manuscript showing two rows of stylized, interlocking circular or oval shapes, possibly representing a decorative border or a pattern of small figures. The shapes are drawn with red and brown outlines on a greyish-green background, separated by thin horizontal lines.

A close-up view of a manuscript page. A large, ornate initial 'V' is written in blue ink. To the right of the 'V', there is text in red ink, including the words 'Vnde' and 'Vnde'. Below the 'V', there is text in black ink, including the words 'Vnde' and 'Vnde'. The parchment is aged and shows some staining.

A circular diagram on aged paper. At the center is a diamond-shaped frame containing a stylized face with large eyes and a small mouth. Four red, flame-like or petal-like shapes are positioned around the central face, each connected to it by a thin line. These red shapes are set against a grey, ring-like background that has a scalloped or notched edge. The entire circular composition is surrounded by elaborate, swirling scrollwork drawn in black ink. In the upper right corner, there is some faint, handwritten text in a non-Latin script, possibly Georgian or Armenian.
