FROM THE PRINCIPAL

After the excitement of 2017, we wondered what the Lord had in store for us in 2018. It has been a wonderful year so far, with a number of new initiatives. We have had some very interesting visitors to the College who have each enriched the experience of our students and faculty (Os Guinness, Kelly Kapic, James Hely-Hutchinson, Gerald Bray, James Hoffmeier). We have commenced plans for the improvement of our student accommodation and expect to have two sabbatical flats available by the end of next year to encourage visiting scholars to take their leave here in Sydney.

Many will know that a group of women have met to pray for the College for over 50 years. We began a men's prayer breakfast this year. The first of these was well attended and the comments from those who joined us confirmed the usefulness of this focus to pray for the College. We are entirely dependent upon God and upon the prayers of his people. As I write this we are gearing up for the second prayer breakfast.

This year our new program of preaching training has been implemented. Preaching is, of course, not the only form of Bible teaching that occurs in our churches, but it is a central and critical form. We are convinced we can do better in helping our students not only to 'get it right' but also to 'get it across'. Our prayer is that the preaching of our students will engage those who hear them, encouraging, exhorting, challenging, comforting and teaching — above all pointing people to Jesus and the salvation that is only found in him. We have been pleased to have David Cook, a well-known teacher of preaching, join us for the John Chapman Preaching Clinics. We are pulling out all the stops to ensure we serve the churches well.

Our Centre for Ministry Development has made a very sizeable contribution to the life of our Diocese through the Developing Rectors Program. Those who have attended have spoken highly of the skills they have learned, alongside the capacity to think broadly, deeply and with fresh insight about the challenges of ministry in today's world. We expect this program and the others developed by the Centre to make a significant difference to ministry effectiveness over the long haul.

Last year for the first time Moore College appeared on the Quality Indicators for Learning and Teaching (QILT) website. The QILT Student Experience Survey is completed by students in higher education institutions all over the country. Moore College scored exceptionally well, which was a great encouragement to our hard working faculty and staff. The overall learning experience scored particularly well as did student engagement. We are very pleased with these results, but are keen to build on them in the year ahead.

Moore College continues to be committed to serving the churches of the Diocese through the training of gifted and godly men and women to take the gospel to our city and the world. Full-time residential theological education remains the very best way to pass on the faith, deepen Christian convictions, shape godly character, and learn to use the gifts God has given in a way that genuinely benefits his people and reaches out to those who are lost. The College is served by an exceptional faculty and a dedicated and professional staff. Most exciting of all, the Lord continues to bring us extraordinary men and women to study at the College. The need in our city, across the country and around the world continues to far outstrip the number of graduates we produce each year. Please pray that God will send even more people to us in order to meet this need.

VISION, MISSION AND VALUES

Vision

We long to see faithful, thoughtful and biblical ministry which honours the Lord Jesus Christ in all the world.

Mission

Our Mission is to enable men and women to deepen their knowledge of God, through higher education in the field of theology. This is so that they might faithfully and effectively live exemplary Christian lives, proclaim and teach the Word of God, and care for others in the name of Jesus Christ in all the world, to the glory of God.

Values

- Christian Faith: Trust in God and his purposes as these are revealed in Jesus Christ and conveyed to us by the Holy Spirit in the canonical scriptures of the Old and New Testaments.
- Integrity: Honesty, transparency, fairness and accountability in all personal behaviour and community practices.
- Grace: Generosity and compassion in dealings with each other, reflecting the undeserved mercy of Christ.
- Service: Placing the welfare of others above personal interests and convenience, using the gifts and talents that God has graciously given.
- Community: Loving personal relationships, developed through regular meeting and a common focus, as the proper context for learning about the triune God and his purposes.
- Scholarship: Rigour of thought characterised by careful use of primary evidence, breadth of research and appropriate inferences, resulting in fresh and readily accessible approaches to both classic issues and contemporary questions.
- Gender Complementarity: Affirmation of the fundamental equality and mutual dependence of men and women as image bearers of God, while recognising proper differences in roles and responsibilities in life and Christian ministry.
- Freedom of Inquiry: The freedom to subject all ideas to honest inquiry.
- Integration: Growth in the knowledge of God is best conducted for, and in the context of, life application and active participation in Christian service.

MOORE COLLEGE STRATEGIC PLAN 2017–2020

Over the next ten years we are aiming to see the College grow in size and in effectiveness as a provider of evangelical theological education of the highest calibre.

We aim to do that while remaining faithful to the teaching of Scripture and our Anglican evangelical heritage, and allowing this fidelity to shape everything else we do. The goals of improving quality, growth, extending influence and ensuring sustainability do not exist for their own sake. The goals serve the faithful proclamation of the gospel and continued provision of godly, effective and well-prepared gospel workers to churches and other Christian organisations around the world.

MOORE FOUNDATION

Building the Foundation

I accepted the role as Head of the Moore College Foundation just 12 months ago with the challenge to establish an effective foundation that would help the College to fund its ambitious program of growth and development of campus facilities. It has been both an exciting year and a challenging one.

One of my first tasks, when I arrived in August 2017, was to develop a fundraising strategic plan that would shape our efforts over the following 3–5 years. This was approved by the Governing Board in May and is now the basis of the work of the Foundation. God has been kind to us in the challenging task of planning the future of the Foundation while building fundraising at the same time. As I write this report, our annual goal for fundraising in 2018 has already been achieved, with over $750,000 in giving to the College. We have moved quickly to implement the fundraising strategic plan as approved. Central to this, is the assumption that we need endowed funding to ensure growth and sustainability. Over time, such an approach will permit an increasing annual dividend for support of the College, without eroding base funding.

Specific Priorities

The key fundraising priorities of the Foundation are gospel-shaped and centre on people and community. These are:

- Scholarships: In a time of increasing costs for higher education, we are seeking to raise significant funds for scholarship support. At the core of this strategy is the building of an endowed fund. In this way, every gift will keep on giving in perpetuity.
- Property development: While we have a wonderful new building, we have an urgent need for the development of suitable housing for both single and married students. Our aim is to give our students the opportunity to live and learn together in community.
- General giving: There is a variety of projects that benefit from general purpose giving. This funding support allows the College to respond to specific needs that support our ministry. This may include faculty training and development, project development, strategic staff and faculty positions, and support to grow research.

While these priorities rightly centre on fundraising, the Foundation has a higher purpose. Ultimately, what drives the Foundation is the same goal that drives faculty and staff. In the words of our Principal, Moore College exists “to further the knowledge of God by equipping men and women to take God’s gospel to the world”. The Foundation shares this common purpose. While the Foundation has set itself fundraising goals and will hopefully exceed them, the ongoing success of the Foundation should always be judged in relation to the effectiveness of the mission of the College. As Head of the Foundation, I will not allow myself to be deflected from this singular purpose. Please pray for this focus to drive all that we do at Moore College. Thank you for your partnership in this wonderful ministry. Pray for the resources required to train and send men and women around the globe to serve in gospel-centred ministry and mission.

MOORE FOUNDATION

Church Relationships

Another function of the Foundation is to strengthen our links to churches and to ensure that a wider group of people understand our mission, our work and future priorities. While we seek the financial support of our churches for the ministry, we also need ongoing prayer and deep partnership in identifying gifted men and women as future students.

We have embarked on a program to deepen the relationship with our churches by inviting people to be Church Representatives in addition to the Senior Minister. This offers us another way to engage with churches, to pray for us, and send men and women to us to be equipped for mission. We want to more regularly communicate and engage in a meaningful and helpful way to strengthen our partnership with the churches.

Alumni

We are also seeking to build a strong alumni network. This has begun with the identification of conveners who can be a contact point for their College year. We are also keen to host Alumni reunions on our new campus for graduates who studied full-time. We hosted a 50th Alumni reunion in February 2018, and another is planned for early next year. In one sense, College alumni include all of our graduates, whether having studied PTC, diploma, and degree courses, or perhaps, even a PhD. But in an even broader sense, we also have thousands of prayers, senders, givers and supporters. This group of Friends is also part of the Moore College community and we would like to stay connected with them.

Staying in Touch

I look forward to staying in touch with our alumni, supporters, senders and friends. We will do this in varied ways, including mail, emails, social media, events, letters, publications and our website. We plan to launch a new website early in 2019. To be a good steward of our relationships and our funds we are also seeking to improve our processes with the development of a new Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system that will enable us to maintain better contact with our many supporters.

Thank you for the privilege of serving as the Head of the Moore College Foundation. Please continue to support the ministry of Moore College.

Priscilla & Aquila Centre

The Priscilla & Aquila Centre (P&A) promotes, encourages and supports the ministries of women, in partnership with men. We have much to be thankful to God for in 2018:

- Our women's ministry stream in the Advanced Diploma, which began last year, is continuing to equip women for a variety of ministries;
- We are continuing to teach and model gender complementarity throughout the College curriculum, and we continue to work out how this can be improved;
- Our annual conference focused on the women at the beginning and end of Luke's Gospel, looking at the announcement of salvation and the accomplishment of salvation;
- We have seen more women take up the ministry of writing and we continue to encourage women in postgraduate study;
- Our September evening seminar was on the topic 'From Sex at Uni to Unisex';
- We now have over 1000 resources on our website and new ones are added weekly with training papers soon to come;
- You can now sign up to receive a fortnightly email that highlights 3 resources from our website; and
- We continue to advertise ministry positions for women on our Positions Vacant page. If you have a position, please email it through to us.

Our hope is that the resources and other pages on our website will help serve and further equip you in your ministries.

Centre for Ministry Development

CMD was established by Moore College to support clergy and churches as they develop theologically-shaped, lifelong, reflective, evidence based best practice in ministry.

2018 has been a year of considerable growth as our team has expanded, enabling an increase in the services provided to clergy and churches across our Diocese.

We have further developed tools to ensure a consistent level of support for those we work with and it is wonderful to witness God blessing our ministry in a number of the churches we are working with.

In 2018 the focused activities of CMD have been:

- Providing support through one-to-one coaching, mentoring or training to a wide variety of rectors across the Diocese, and the churches they lead. CMD also conducts Ministry Growth Clusters (peer coaching) for groups of ministers and facilitates training and workshops with lay leaders in the parish;
- Extending the Developing Rectors Program. This is a formal two-year induction and training program for new rectors across the Diocese, involving both a curriculum and personal mentoring. Three cohorts have now begun the program and our initial group of rectors will complete the program in November;
- Providing diagnostic tools, ministry tools, surveys and expertise to assist honest ministry and minister reflection, and to assist implementation of the Diocesan Mission; and
- Conducting training courses, forums and partnering to encourage and build the understanding of gospel-shaped effective ministry practice and skills.

Centre for Christian Living

The mission of CCL is to bless the broader Christian community by bringing Moore-College-style biblical ethics to a wide range of issues connected with the Christian life.

In pursuing this mission in 2018, we have continued a threefold strategy:

- We run four public events each year, featuring faculty members or other well-known speakers. A highlight of the 2018 program was the visit of Os Guinness to College as a guest of CCL. Dr Guinness spoke about freedom to a full-house in the Marcus Loane Hall, with many more joining us on Livestream from around Australia. Going by the numbers so far, around 650 people will attend our events in 2018.
- We also work hard to share the content of our seminars further afield through livestreaming, and by making audio, video and text versions of the content available for later download on our website. More than five times as many people have accessed the content of our seminars in this way in 2018, as have attended in person.
- 2018 has also seen substantial growth in the monthly CCL Podcast, with over 30,000 plays in the past ten months. Our most popular episodes have included 'The Holy Spirit and the Christian life' with Phillip Jensen, 'What's the deal with Jordan Peterson?' with David Höhne, 'Training our children in the way they should go' with Peter Tong, and a wide-ranging chat with well-known author and blogger Tim Challies.

Centre for Global Mission

Through our Centre for Global Mission (CGM), we provide resources and support for theological education across five continents in 19 different languages. We primarily work with partner institutions, providing access to our distance education (PTC) material so that they can offer their own high quality ministry training adapted to the needs of their own contexts.

Over the last year we have had three significant foci for our work:

- Developing and implementing IT infrastructure that gives our partners access to all of our material (including assessment and administration tools) in online learning, mobile app and paper-based forms. In addition to providing low-cost access for students, this will allow partners to do all of their own marking and administration of courses without using Moore College resources. This means that the solution we have is 'scalable' without incurring additional costs to us.
- Expanding our translations to make our material useful to more people around the world. Projects include French, Russian, Swahili, German, Chinese, Burmese, and Arabic.
- Formalising partnerships with like-minded groups and institutions committed to training gospel workers. We currently have formal partners in Chile, China, Egypt, Germany, Ghana, India, Kenya, Madagascar, Malaysia, Mauritius, Myanmar, North Kenya, Pakistan, Russia, South Africa, South America, South Sudan/Uganda and Thailand.

During GAFCON in June we were able to showcase our new platform, resources and mobile app to the conference delegates from around the world. As a result, we have fielded enthusiastic new enquiries for help from Anglican bishops and Bible School principals from around the world, chiefly in Africa. One lay training institute in Nigeria already has 200 students but no set curricula or teaching resources. In other places bishops have dozens of untrained clergy planting churches and leading large congregations. This leaves young believers exposed and vulnerable to false teaching.

The work that the CGM and its partners are involved in is enabled by the heritage of great biblical and theological training at Moore College, embodied in the PTC material.

FROM THE TREASURER

God in his goodness has provided the College with significant holdings in property over the last 160 years. The Governing Board is keenly aware of its responsibility to be a good steward of this endowment.

The Learning and Teaching Centre completed stage one of the College's long-term Master Plan for the coordinated redevelopment of the College campus. While we continue to examine options in the medium term for further development of the Newtown campus, our next focus is student housing. At the moment, only about 50% of our student body is able to reside in College housing at any given time, and we aim to give them all the opportunity to live and learn together in community.

In this regard the College sold an investment property during the year, the profit from which has been set aside in a separate fund to apply to student housing. The Croydon Park property, on which limited student housing has been provided to date, is the subject of development applications to the relevant State and Local Government bodies. If approved, additional housing for up to 40 families will become available.

A taskforce set up by the Governing Board is exploring the options available to us to maximise the use and value of the rest of the College property.

In September 2018 the upper limit of student debt that can be provided by Government loan schemes and the terms for repayment were amended, with effect from 2020. The Governing Board is considering the potential adverse impact upon future students who in the past may have been able to fully fund College fees from such schemes, but may not in the future.

Please pray for us as we seek to deal wisely and responsibly with the gifts the Lord has given us.

Treasurer

FINANCIAL NOTES

1. Teaching

Tuition fees are set annually. They are the College's single largest item of income. About 80% of students elect to use the Federal Government's FEE-HELP loan scheme to pay for their tuition.

In 2017, the College received an annual grant from the Synod of $1,360,000, which was directly applied to reduce the cost of tuition for students. Notwithstanding this grant, the College's teaching activities recorded a loss of $3,618,000. In the absence of the Synod grant, the tuition fee for each student would need to have been 96% greater for teaching to be conducted without a loss.

While the Governing Board seeks to generate an overall operating surplus, the non-cash depreciation expense of the new Learning and Teaching Centre will make this difficult for the next few years.

2. Surplus from operations

The College, like all not-for-profits, needs to derive a surplus each year from its operations to enable it to continue its ministries. As with other providers of higher education of long standing, the College has a large number of ageing buildings that demand increasingly costly upkeep. In a similar vein, all education providers need to update their information systems continually.

3. Other items

The surplus from operations is distinctly separated from the other items of income and expense the College receives and expends. Those other items relate to activities that do not form part of the College's on-going operations. Income received cannot be used to 'subsidise' operations.

Current assets and current liabilities

A specific requirement imposed by the Commonwealth agency that regulates the College's higher education activities is that its current assets must exceed its current liabilities. This ensures that the College is continually in a position to pay its debts as and when they fall due.

Student accommodation fund

Fundraising has commenced for the development of suitable student housing both for single and married students. In late 2017 the College sold one of its commercial properties in order to partially fund a major property development on its land at Croydon Park. The gain of $11.1m has been transferred to this fund.

Centre for Ministry Development (CMD) fund

The CMD had net funds as at 31 December 2017 of $166,000 to fund its activities as summarised on page 12.

Student housing

Due to the sub-standard condition of much of the College's residential property, an on-going program of refurbishment has been undertaken over the past 10 years. The College has an objective to house all students but recognises this is not financially feasible at this point in time. In order to make residence as affordable as possible, students living in residence pay College an accommodation charge, which is typically 65-75% of the applicable market rate.

The College is very sensitive to the already high and increasing financial burden which attending College places on its students. As highlighted in Teaching, the Synod grant directly reduces the cost for students of studying at Moore. In the absence of the Synod grant, many students would find the financial burden too heavy and most would likely be unable to pursue theological education.

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE GOVERNING BOARD

Dr D. Broughton Knox, the longest serving Principal of Moore College, would often speak of the order of priorities which undergirds the life of the College, namely, the quality of the faculty, the breadth and depth of the library, the sustenance of students in the Dining Room and the provision of student accommodation. Although students may wish that they were a higher priority on this list, unless the faculty are of a high calibre, there would not be any students! Our College has been greatly blessed by God over the years, and under the faithful leadership of Dr Mark Thompson he has gathered and strengthened the faculty of scholars and pastors over the past five years.

With the completion of the Learning and Teaching Centre, which houses the Donald Robinson Library, our Principal has overseen a significant improvement in addressing the second priority of Dr Knox, where first class facilities are now available not only for students, but also for faculty and staff.

Visitors to the College Dining Room will be aware of the varied and nutritious meals that are prepared for students under the culinary guidance of Warren Darwall, the College chef for 15 years. Thus the last remaining Knoxian priority is student accommodation. While it remains a significant challenge to increase the availability of accommodation to meet the needs of the student body in Newtown, securing the title to the But-Har-Gra campus is a first step in developing this property to accommodate a larger number of students in Croydon Park. The College continues to be in a mindset of growth and development, as it seeks to fulfil its charter of preparing men and women to be able ministers of the Word of God, and who will be able to bring others to a knowledge of the truth as it is found in Christ.

On behalf of the Governing Board, I thank all those who have supported the College over this past year, in prayer and in generous donations. We need both, if we are to continue to prepare men and women who can rightly handle the word of truth in a world that is desperately in need of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Governing Board
