LENT.

- D'Arcy Wood.

The sacred period leading to the paschal feast was originally one week - equivalent to our "Holy Week". But early in Christian history the period was extended to 40 days, the reason probably being to give a longer time for candidates to be instructed prior to baptism. The choice of 40 days reflects the period Jesus spent in the wilderness.

In the early church the preparation was not only the learning of Christian teaching; it was a matter of personal discipline, especially through fasting.

Baptism puts us in a special relationship to God and His people. We are identified with Christ's death and resurrection, and so gain a new identity, a new "name".

Baptism is a once-only event, yet we can re-live and re-appropriate its reality. The renewal of baptismal vows at some time during the Easter celebrations is a practice that is spreading among the Christian denominations.

This service of renewal has its greatest value if we prepare for it. Lent can be such a "re-entry phase". We can re-learn our Christian story; spend time reflecting on the identity we are given by Christ, and seek ways to discipline ourselves, so that the meaning of our life in Christ is not diluted by the acids of cynicism, of self-seeking, or of the modern heresy of "my self-fulfilment at all costs."

This re-learning of baptism can take place by quiet prayer and meditation. But it can also take place by the discipline of corporate study. Study groups and prayer groups have a particular relevance at this time of year, for we can learn from others what it means to walk as a Christian. All of us have our struggles and difficulties. The old self lives on in the new baptismal life. But the power of Christ's resurrection is also present, as a foretaste of the glory to come. Our sharing of the journey with others, during Lent, helps us recover the resurrection faith by showing us the signs of resurrection in the lives of fellow-pilgrims.

If sharing in groups is not a practical possibility for us, a recalling of the example of others - of what we have learned in past years - will help us enter more fully into our baptismal identity, the shared identity we call Body of Christ. None of us walk alone.

PARISH NOTES.

At the Parish Council Meeting in December, 1988 the date of the Annual Vestry Meeting was fixed. The Annual Vestry Meeting will be held on Monday 6th March, 1989 commencing at 8pm.

This is always an important meeting, when the church officers are elected for the next twelve months. Please mark this date on your calendar.

During January work was recommenced on the replanting of the memorial garden. The weeds were removed by a number of the parishioners. On the last Saturday in January the weed control mat and the bark chips were put in place. The final step is the planting of the new shrubs. Thanks to all who lent a hand.
